REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT CHIEF WORK DONE

INCREASES POWER OF EXECUTIVE TO DIRECT DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES

REGULATION OF MOTOR BUS LINES BY RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSION

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK THAT WAS ACCOMPLISHED

Reorganization of the state government increasing the power of the executive to direct department activities and control expenditures.

Regulation of the motor bus lines bringing them under control of the railroad and warehouse commission and forcing them to show that they are a convenience and a necessity.

Imposition of a gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon.

Reduction of automobile license taxes amounting to $1,300,000 next year.

Extension of Rural Credits authorizing the bureau to issue $30,000,000 more in bonds to create additional funds to be loaned to farmers.

Amendment and revision of drainage laws.

Adoption of a highway traffic code without the highway patrolmen provision.

Amendment of game and fish laws in 70 instances.

Authorized another referendum on the forestry conservation constitutional amendment defeated at the 1924 general election.

Measures Refused

Refused to ratify the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Killed a state wide boxing bill and a measure authorizing a horse racing commission and the use of betting machines.

Killed the political conventions bill and measures designed to return the legislature to a partisan basis.

Earlier closing of the polls on election day was also killed.

Refused to increase the occupational tax on iron ore and let drop by the wayside a bill to increase the royalty tax.

Gave little consideration to proposals to license automobile drivers.

Defeated a proposed highway bond issue measure before it was introduced by public sentiment.

Declined to repeal the contract provision of the co-operative marketing law attacked by grain dealers.

Refused to enact a one buck law when conservationists fought it.

Declined to establish a metropolitan zone area providing for one streetcar fare between the Twin Cities.

St. Paul, April 22.—After a session lasting more than 20 hours, the Minnesota legislature adjourned in time for breakfast today.

A deadlock which held all night long threatened to cause an extra session to take care of appropriation measures. Finally both houses agreed on a $500.00 a year increase in salaries for present state officials instead of the $700 increase the senate insisted on, and the session ended at 6:55 a. m.—but according to law, it was not yet midnight, for all clocks in both houses were turned back.

House members hung the session that stood by Governor Christianson's economy program in opposing salary increases proposed in the state department appropriation bill. They stood by the guns all night long, fighting for what they called a "principle."

As Rep. R. A. Wilkinson of Lake Elmo expressed it over his coffee:

"The house stood by its mountainous principle and brought forth—not a mouse—but a louse."

Legislative musketry was brought into action late in the evening when it was discovered that total expenditures planned would total around $44,000,000—close to $5,000,000 above the figure for the current biennium. The governor indicated keen disappointment.

The bill for state department appropriations came in late with amendments providing for salary increases for the state treasurer, state auditor and three railroad and warehouse commissioners. The matter involved only a few thousands of dol-

MORON CHARGED WITH DIABOLICAL MURDER IN CHICAGO

WOMAN HACKED TO PIECES, TORSO FOUND IN CATCH BASIN AT GOLF LINKS

HEAD, ARMS AND LEGS HAD BEEN CUT AND CHOPPED OFF

(By United Press)
Chicago, April 22.—A moron was hunted today for what the police termed "one of the most diabolical murders" in the history of Chicago.

Police and the coroner agreed that a moron killed and hacked to pieces a woman of between 20 and 30 whose torso was found in a catch basin of the Budlong golf links late yesterday. The head, arms and legs had been cut and chopped off.

Examination of the torso today revealed that the slayer had cut a deep incision into the stomach and removed the sex organs. Dr. Thomas Foley, coroner's physician who made the examination, declared that none but a moron would have performed the gruesome operation. The victim probably was killed a year ago, he said.

lars, but it was enough to start a fight.

Never before in the history of the legislature has there been such wrangling over any one question.

Probably the thing that put the house in mind to fight was the passage of a deficiency school aid item of $1,300,000 at the last minute. Economists in the house looked upon it with disfavor. Then when the bill came along carrying salary increases for some of the state officers, a great cry went up.

Waiting for the small riot in the house to quiet down, the senate under call recessed at 1:15 a. m. to partake of refreshments in the adjoining hall.

Finally at 4 a. m. conference committees were appointed and got together on the salary basis. Within an hour they reported and both houses adopted the compromise recommendations almost unanimously.

The governor has power to blue pencil any item in the appropriation bills he doesn't like and may take advantage of his prerogative to knock out the salary increases and some other items on general principles.

The 44th session started out with the governor urging utmost economy. He desired that budget items be cut so that appropriations would not exceed $10,000,000. But since the they be left impossible. Since the total appropriations passed by the session are considerable over that amount, the governor is faced with acceding to the wishes of the lawmakers or slashing items in the face of legislative approval of his pet reorganization measure.

Three days remain in which the governor may consider bills before signing them. He remained at the capitol until early today signing measures which had been passed, including a large number of sectional or local bills of no general importance.

Facing the task of making effective the governmental reorganization the governor will devote most of his time to those problems, he indicated.

CHICKEN FARMER HANGED, KILLED HIS SWEETHEART

ACCUSED GOES TO HIS DEATH WEARING A CHEERY SMILE

(By United Press)
London, April 22.—Despite intervention of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in his behalf, Norman Thorne, a young chicken farmer of Crowborough, was hanged today at Wandsworth prison for the murder of his sweetheart, Elsie Cameron.

Thorne went to his death with the familiar cheery smile he has worn while all England stormed and flooded the newspapers with contrary reports as to whether or not he should be executed.

A national debate on the question of Thorne's hanging ensued after Conan Doyle, near whose home the girl died, came out openly in opposition to capital punishment in this instance.

Circumstances surrounding Miss Cameron's death precluded the possibility of establishing Thorne's guilt beyond a doubt. The girl went from London to Crowborough December 5 last with the announced intention of remaining there until Thorne married her. The accused man claimed she never reached his farm. After week of search Elsie's dismembered body was dug up under a chicken hatch.

"LOS ANGELES" DIRIGIBLE IN A TRIP TO BERMUDA

(By United Press)
Hamilton, Bermuda, April 22.—The U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles which flew here from Lakehurst, N. J., during the night, was safely moored to a mast on the tender Patoka at 6:15 a. m. today.

Fair weather favored the successful mooring of the airship which on two previous visits failed to stop and returned to its base after flying over the islands. The Los Angeles was sighted at 5:05 a. m. A fresh breeze was blowing, but lines were dropped to the mast ship at 6 a. m. and 15 minutes later the dirigible was fast.

ASK FOR NEW TRIAL IN GLEEMAN CASE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 22.—Notice of appeal for a new trial for Ben and Abe Gleeman convicted and sentenced for the murder of Burton Stevens was to be filed with the state supreme court today.

Attorneys for the brothers said the appeal would be filed this afternoon. The convicted youths have been in Stillwater penitentiary since Monday. Plans also were laid to appeal the sentence of Ernest Cary, chief defense counsel for contempt of court, Judge R. D. O'Brien who heard the murder case sentenced Cary to thirty days in jail at the conclusion of the trial. Sentence was stayed for twenty days.

CARE FOR 125 POOR CHILDREN

RAMSEY COUNTY SPENDS $5070 FOR THE WELFARE OF ILLEGITIMATES

St. Paul, April 22.—During the first quarter of the year 125 illegitimate children were provided for in Ramsey county.

This was the report made to the county board by Miss Monica C. Keating, secretary of the Ramsey County Child Welfare Board.

Miss Keating reported that during these three months the board has collected $5,375 for the support of these children and had disbursed $5,070.

"This speaks well," she said, "for the efforts being made to provide for the support of such children in our county."

The man was described as about 35 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, dark brown hair and brown eyes. The body had apparently been in the water a week.

BUCK O'CONNOR STANDS TRIAL FOR MURDER

COMING FROM STILLWATER CLOSELY GUARDED BY FORCE OF DEPUTIES

INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY WHILE SERVING TIME FOR FORGERY

(By United Press)
Wadena, Minn., April 22.—Buck O'Connor was brought back from Stillwater penitentiary today to stand trial for the murder of John Goings.

O'Connor was to arrive just before 2 p. m. when the trial was scheduled to begin before Judge William L. Parsons. His coming from Stillwater was closely guarded by deputies who feared an attempt to escape.

O'Connor was indicted by the Wadena county grand jury while serving time in Stillwater for forgery. He is alleged to have forged and cashed travelers' checks taken from the body of Goings.

The murdered man was driving from North Dakota to his home in Ohio when he picked up O'Connor and a man named Edward Helm, according to County Prosecutor John Mark. The information charges that they beat Goings to death, riddled his body with bullets and concealed it under a shock of corn in a field 14 miles from here.

Goings' body was found by a farmer last January 29th. O'Connor pleaded not guilty when arraigned here last week.

BAD BOOZE SENT TO U. S. FROM GERMANY

HUGE RUM RUNNING TRUST OPERATES OUT OF HAMBURG

MEN WITH LARGE CAPITAL INTERESTED IN ITS OPERATION

(By United Press)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, April 22.—The world's biggest booze smuggling trust is operating today out of Hamburg and Bremen.

Behind it are men high in Germany's financial life—some of them men with untold millions of marks. Aiding in the traffic between the German free ports and Rum Row, off New York, are Americans, Britishers and Germans, while standing in the background as sort of unwilling security for the big financiers are responsible German insurance companies.

At present, the booze running is done with bad liquor.

Barrels of real Scotch brought in from England are adulterated in the free ports of Hamburg and Bremen with raw German cognac, plain potato spirits or worse. Some of this spirit used to "split" the Scotch apparently emanates from the German spirit monopoly—however, without the knowledge of that body. One barrel of real Scotch makes five barrels of "import off Rum Row."

Profits run into hundreds of thousands of dollars in a short time. Piracy and double dealing, however, are making of the business a tremendous gamble, and investigations show that runners sometimes do not hesitate to scuttle their ships to collect insurance.

American officials are fully aware of the extent and ramifications of this great ring of booze and boodles. The German authorities let it flourish unhampered, for under the laws they have no jurisdiction, except perhaps in cases of false clearance papers.

U. S. MARINES AT HONDURAS NOW WITHDRAWN

Reinforcements have arrived to aid the federal troops which are reported to have defeated the rebel bands on the outskirts of LaCebia.

MARCH OF OF INVENTIONS IS FASTER NOW

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SPEAKS TO EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS IN NEW YORK

PHONO-FILM PICTURES COOLIDGE AND GIVES HIS SPEECH

(By United Press)
New York, April 22.—"The march of inventions is faster in our days than ever before," President Coolidge told an audience of editors and publishers who gathered at the Friars Club last night.

The president was then at the White House, but his voice and the picturization of the delivery of his speech were successfully presented to his audience by the "phono-film."

A motion picture of Mr. Coolidge in the act of delivering the speech was recorded with the words on one film at the South Portico of the White House a week ago. In its presentation yesterday the illusion was so accurate, the audience unconsciously applauded as the president spoke.

In the course of the speech Mr. Coolidge took occasion to say "the government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by rigid economy in public expenditures than through any other action."

WCCO HEARD BY MANY IN AUSTRALIA, TELEGRAM DISCLOSES

Minneapolis, April 22.—Hundreds of radio fans in Australia heard WCCO the Gold Medal station, broadcast the special Australian program last Thursday morning.

A telegram from the National Association of Broadcasters, which promoted the tests, announced that a cable from Australia stated that WCCO was heard plainly and picked up with ease by the fans.

All of the American stations participating in the special broadcast were heard, the telegram stated. The program was broadcast from 3 to 5 a. m. last Thursday.

(cash), financed one expedition—the ill-fated "Veronica"—which, however, the firm claims started out honestly and with papers in proper order. In other words, the promoter claims he was participating in a legal business, and that he was not responsible for the "pirates" who rifled the ship off New York and then tried to scuttle her after setting her adrift. In any event, according to insurance company data, the promoter was paid 1,800,000 marks invested in the venture.

Two Americans, represented by the police as agents of the American Rum Row ring, are still sitting in Bremen awaiting trial in connection with the Veronica case, which the police believe was a put up job amongst the rum runners to get the cargo free—and also to bleed the insurance company for the millionaires' money.

"OTHERWISE IT HAD GOOD RECORD" SAYS GOVERNOR

"TOTAL OF APPROPRIATIONS SHOULD HAVE BEEN HELD AT $39,000,000"

"PRACTICE OF PILING UP BILLS FOR POSTERITY WILL RUN 2 YEARS LONGER"

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 22.—Governor Theodore Christianson today censured the 44th legislature for appropriating "too much money"—but commended its "otherwise good record."

In a formal statement issued at noon as the legislature prepared to adjourn sine die, the governor commented upon the session.

"The 1925 legislature appropriated too much money."

"Otherwise it made a good record," he said tersely.

"It passed the bill reorganizing the state government which will give the governor's office power to check expenditures of state departments. The bill did not go as far as it should in eliminating and consolidating agencies of government, but it provides a means to study the problem and makes further recommendations to the next legislature."

It is unfortunate that most of the unnecessary and objectionable appropriations are in such form that they cannot be vetoed under a constitution which gives the executive power to strike out, but not to reduce items. The total of appropriations could have been held down to $39,000,000 and should have been.

"It is evident that the practice of incurring bills for posterity to pay will continue for at least two years longer."

"Latest estimates at the capital on the total of appropriations are around $43,000,000."

FEELEY TESTIFIES IN WHEELER SUIT

Federal Court Room, Great Falls, Mont., April 22.—William G. Feeley, a Washington attorney, did testify in the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler that he and not Wheeler appeared before the interior department as attorney for Gordon Campbell, oil man. Wheeler is facing trial on a charge that he misused his office by appearing for fees before the interior department as attorney for Campbell after he became senator. Feeley declared he was hired by Campbell the latter part of March or first of April, 1923, to straighten out Campbell's intricate legal differences with the department regarding government permits.

One barrel of real Scotch makes five barrels of "import out Rum Row."

Profit, run into hundreds of thousands of dollars in a short time. Piracy and double dealing, however, are making of the business a tremendous gamble, and investigations show that runners sometimes do not hesitate to scuttle their ships to collect insurance.

American officials are fully aware of the extent and ramifications of this great ring of booze and hooch. The German authorities let it flourish unhampered, for under the laws they have no jurisdiction, except perhaps in cases of false clearance papers.

U. S. MARINES AT HONDURAS NOW WITHDRAWN

(By United Press)
Washington, April 22.—United States marines, landed at LaCebba, Honduras, to protect American life and property endangered by revolutionary activities there, have been withdrawn to the U. S. S. Denver, the state department announced today. The Denver, however, will remain off shore until quiet has been restored. It was said. Reinforcements have arrived to aid the federal troops which are reported to have defeated the rebel bands on the outskirts of LaCebba.

MARCH OF OF INVENTIONS IS FASTER NOW

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SPEAKS TO
EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS
IN NEW YORK

PHONO-FILM PICTURES COOLIDGE AND GIVES HIS SPEECH

(By United Press)
New York, April 22.—"The march of inventions is faster in our days than ever before," President Coolidge told an audience of editors and publishers as they banqueted at the Friars Club last night.

The president was then at the White House, but his voice and the picturization of the delivery of his speech were successfully presented to his audience by the "phono-film."

A motion picture of Mr. Coolidge in the act of delivering the speech was recorded with the words on one film at the South Portico of the White a week ago. In its presentation yesterday the illusion was so accurate, the audience unconsciously applauded as the president spoke.

In the course of the speech Mr. Coolidge took occasion to say "the government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by rigid economy in public expenditures than through any other action."

WCCO HEARD BY MANY IN AUSTRALIA, TELEGRAM DISCLOSES

Minneapolis, April 22.—Hundreds of radio fans in Australia heard WCCO the Gold Medal station, broadcast the special Australian program last Thursday morning.

A telegram from the National Association of Broadcasters, which promoted the tests, announced that a cable from Australia stated that WCCO was heard plainly and picked up with ease by the fans.

All of the American stations participating in the special broadcast were heard, the telegram stated. The program was broadcast from 3 to 5 a. m. last Thursday.

School libraries have been installed in 99.9 per cent of all school districts in the State of Washington.

(cash), financed one expedition—the ill-fated "Veronica"—which, however, the firm claims started out honestly and with papers in proper order. In other words, the promoter claims he was participating in a legal business, and that he was not responsible for the "pirates" who rifled the ship off New York and then tried to scuttle her after setting her adrift. In any event, according to insurance company data, the promoter was paid 1,800,000 marks invested in the venture.

Two Americans, represented by the police as agents of the American Rum Row ring, are still sitting in Bremen awaiting trial in connection with the Veronica case, which the police believe was a put up job amongst the rum runners to get the cargo free—and also to bleed the insurance company for the millionaire's money.

"OTHERWISE IT HAD GOOD RECORD" SAYS GOVERNOR

"TOTAL OF APPROPRIATIONS
SHOULD HAVE BEEN HELD
AT $39,000,000"

"PRACTICE OF PILING UP BILLS
FOR POSTERITY WILL RUN
2 YEARS LONGER"

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 22.—Governor Theodore Christianson today censured the 44th legislature for appropriating "too much money"—but commended its "otherwise good record."

In a formal statement issued at noon as the legislature prepared to adjourn sine die, the governor commented upon the session.

"The 1925 legislature appropriated too much money," he said tersely.

"It passed the bill reorganizing the state government which will give the governor's office power to check expenditures of state departments. The bill did not go as far as it should in eliminating and consolidating agencies of government, but it provides a means to study the problem and makes further recommendations to the next legislature."

It is unfortunate that most of the unnecessary and objectionable appropriations are in such form that they cannot be vetoed under a constitution which gives the executive power to strike out, but not to reduce items. The total of appropriations could have been held down to $39,000,000 and should have been.

"It is evident that the practice of incurring bills for posterity to pay will continue for at least two years longer."

"Latest estimates at the capital on the total of appropriations are around $43,000,000."

FEELEY TESTIFIES IN WHEELER SUIT

Federal Court Room, Great Falls, Mont., April 22.—William G. Feeley, a Washington attorney, did testify in the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler that he and not Wheeler appeared before the interior department as attorney for Gordon Campbell, oil man.

Wheeler is facing trial on a charge that he misused his office by appearing for fees before the interior department as attorney for Campbell after he became senator. Feeley declared he was hired by Campbell the latter part of March or first of April, 1923, to straighten out Campbell's intricate legal differences with the department regarding government permits.

Merger of Deer Lodge Civic Clubs Proposed

Deer Lodge, Mont., April 22.—Rotary here is discussing a movement to replace the chamber of commerce with a body composed of Rotary, Kiwanis, and persons not affiliated with either, to be invited to enter the new organization. At the recent district convention of Rotary in Helena, several talks related to the tendency of luncheon clubs to replace chambers of commerce and commercial clubs, which, it is said, have fallen in "innocuous desuetude" in several cities, since the advent of the club.

EUROPE'S RESISTANCE TO COMMUNISM

London, April 22.—Europe's resistance to communism was manifest in disturbances, minor clashes and secret interchange of information upon nations of the old world today.

King Alfonso of Spain was quoted in an interview with a Paris newspaper as forecasting the necessity for a system of directory governments to combat "the Soviet spirit."

PRESENTS OF SILVERWARE

John Holvick Made a Pleasing Presentation Address at the Party

Aaron Johnson and Miss Hulda Erickson were united in marriage on Saturday, April 21st, by Rev. J. A. Johnson. Taken from the Brainerd Dispatch issue of April 27, 1900. Friends of the above parties, about fifty in number, remembering the above important incident, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fredstrom, and from there went in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, 1714 Laurel street, on Tuesday evening, to surprise them on their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent informally, one feature being old favorite songs, sung by John Holvick, Harold Nelson, Miss Gladys Holvick and Miss Alice Johnson, with the last named at the piano.

A purse of silver and numerous other gifts or silverware were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, John Holvick making the address of presentation.

The evening closed with delicious refreshments, including a large wedding cake, a gift of those present.

Seals and Tuna Fish Have Hiding Places

There is a mystery surrounding the fur seal which has never been solved. No one has ever been able to discover where they go in winter. No one has yet been able to make a record of their hiding place.

All that is known, says the Minneapolis Tribune, is that on the islands of St. Paul and St. George, in Alaska, the seals begin to appear about the end of April or the first of May and toward the latter part of August or in the first weeks of September they disappear as strangely and mysteriously as they came. In this respect they are not less puzzling to scientists than the huge schools of tuna fish which appear and disappear from the waters of southern California regularly each year.

Tuna fish have been caught, marked and turned loose, with the hope that some of them might be caught in other waters during the winter months, but so far none of them has been captured. A similar method of marking seals would do no good, for they are never seen during the winter months.

Years ago the seals numbered 5,000, 000 or more, where today they may be counted only up to four or five hundred thousand. Yet even in the days when they were most numerous, their habit of disappearing suddenly without leaving a trace of their whereabouts and as suddenly reappearing after an absence of several months was just as mysterious as it is today.

Paris Bank Messenger Needs No Armed Guard

The Paris bank messenger wears a cocked hat with an air of dignity. His coat is liberal in cut and you can see the big brass buttons on it glittering in the sunshine quite a long way off. A brass plate over his heart bears a number and under his arm he carries a leather satchel attached to a big chain secured about his waist.

There is an air of prosperity about him. He is of liberal proportions and plants his feet firmly. He inspires confidence and we might trust our fortune to his keeping and still sleep peacefully at night.

We meet him often in the busy morning near the opera pursuing his steadfast way along the crowded pavement. He, least of anyone, is in a hurry. He is picturesque, slow and sure. And that we feel we may confide our treasure to him is due not to the chain of shining steel with which he grapples it, nor his glittering buttons, nor the brazen number on his breast, but he is secure, inviolate because he is fantastic, and treasure walks the streets unguarded save by the fantasy of a glorious cocked hat.—From the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

When Poachers Flourished

As a profession, poaching has fallen off greatly in Great Britain. A hundred years ago the nights between the harvest and hunters' full moons were the nights of the poachers' delight, and there would be a steady flow of game, not killed by shot, to the cellars of dealers in country towns, to the country inns, and to the boxes of such coachmen and guards and country carriers as were willing to do a little business in handling game. A hundred-year-old record shows that no fewer than four-and-fifty poachers were sheltered in Lewes jail at one time. There were poachers in every town and village, hence the threatening notices, "Beware of Mantraps," still often to be seen in British woodlands.

Fires in Forests

It is not practicable to equip forests with lightning rods. No remedy is now in sight for disastrous forest fires due to lightning, such as have occurred on a vast scale in the western states during the last season, says Nature Magazine of Washington. When lightning strikes a tree the ordinary result is to splinter the wood or strip off bark through the sudden generation of steam. In the great majority of cases the tree is not set on fire. Nevertheless the aggregate number of forest fires started by lightning is, in many parts of the country, greater than the number due to all other causes combined.

Paper in Farming

A 50 per cent increase in the pineapple crops of the Hawaiian Islands has been accomplished by use of broad strips of brown paper that completely cover the soil around the plants. The paper smothers the weeds, thereby leaving all the nourishment for the plants, which force their way up through the covering. Also, the paper protector conserves the moisture in the soil. The waste fibers of sugar cane, once considered valueless, are used for making the paper. Seventy-five thousand rolls of it at a cost of $200,000 are used yearly to cover the 8,500 acres of pineapple plantations in the islands.

At Last

How often the wild rose has moved its first flame along the skirts of horn-bone hedge or beech thicket, or the honeysuckle begun to unwind her pale horns of ivory and moonlight, and yet across the furthest elm-tops to the south the magic summons of the cuckoo has been still unheard in the windless amber dawn, or when, as in the poet's tale, the myriad little hands of twilight pull the shadows out of the leaves and weave the evening dark. But when the cry of the plover is abroad we know that our welcome spring is come at last.—Flora Macleod, in "Where the Forest Murmurs."

LAWMAKERS PROVIDE FOR HIGHWAY FUNDS

HIGHWAY INCOME INCREASED BUT IMPROVEMENTS ARE GREATLY REDUCED

A 2-cent gasoline tax effective May 1 and slightly reduced motor vehicle taxes for 1926 and 1927—the receipts to maintain and improve Minnesota's 7,000-mile system of main highways and also to meet interest and sinking fund demands of $33,600,000 county reimbursement bonds now outstanding—result from new legislation regarded as among the most important of the 1925 session just ended in St. Paul. Touching pocketbook of automobile owners and affecting the most roads in Crow Wing county, the outcome is held of interest here.

Income as fixed will provide for a little more than half as much new highway improvement this year and next as in the average year past under the state highway program, in addition to regular maintenance work and sinking fund depends, according to a current highway bulletin.

For the first time in six years, the legislature authorized absolutely no highway bond issues. In the average year past over $8,000,000 of bond money was forthcoming to speed needed highway improvements in all parts of the state. Now the bond account is taking about $3,500,000 of trunk highway funds annually, instead of increasing construction funds in the past. This is the explanation given in the bulletin for the fact that less money will be available for highway work, other than upkeep, during 1925 and 1926 in spite of the larger combined income from automobile and gasoline taxes.

New automobile tax laws to take effect Jan. 1, 1926, make reductions of $2 from the present $12 and $2.50 from the $15 minimums, while the average tax on other automobiles is cut between $2.50 and $3 a year by change of the tax rate to 2.4 per cent from 2.75 per cent. Revisions of truck taxes effect comparatively few owners. The further affect, the bulletin adds, will be a cut of nearly $1,500,000 yearly in improvements on roads which car owners use most.

Minnesota is the forty-second of the forty-eight states to adopt the gasoline tax. Its 2-cent rate is comparable to the 2.44 cent average for the other states. Wisconsin and Iowa also entered the list of gasoline tax states this year and the tax was increased to 3 from 2 cents a gallon in South Dakota.

FARM RADIO COUNCIL ARRANGES PROGRAMS

The National Farm Radio Council, serving as a contact point between the thousands of agricultural information sources and broadcasting stations to help in providing better farm radio programs, through the Farm Bureau, announces an agricultural program which will be given over Radiophone Station WRC Washington, D. C. The first feature on this program was an address given at 7:45 P. M., on April 16, by Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine. This talk was his initial radio address since assuming his new duties in the nation's Capitol. Secretary Jardine spoke on American Forest Week recently proclaimed by President Coolidge the week of April 27 to May 3 and participated in by organizations all over the United States.

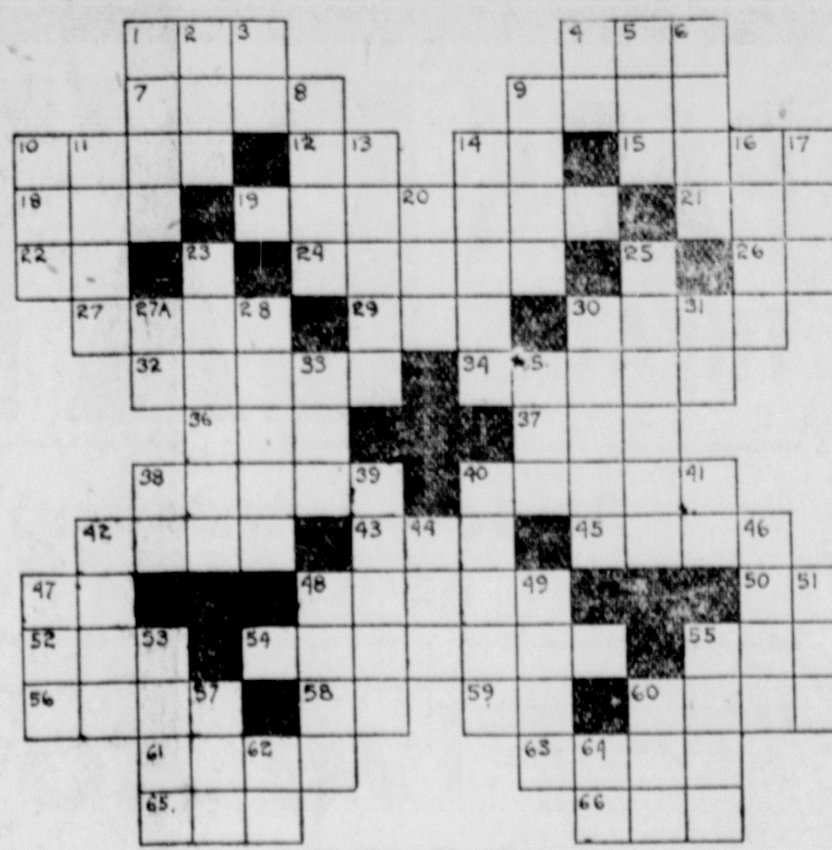

Secretary Jardine speaking of the importance of American Forest Week to farmers, says, "Farmers, especially, should be awake to our country's forestry needs. One-third of all our forest land is in the form of farm woodlots and small holdings. Farmers also are the greatest single class of wood losers. These are sufficient reasons why forestry is of prime importance to agricultural interests in all parts of the country."

Radiophone Station KYW will broadcast on April 30, at 7:30 P. M., "Some Stories of 4-H Club Girls in the Southwest," by Mary Louis Doherty of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

The regular review of the livestock market, furnished by the Chicago Livestock Exchange through arrangement with the National Farm Radio Council, will follow.

The Council announces a farm radio program which will be broadcast over Radio Station WGN at Chicago. This program will consist of four features a week, at 12 A. M. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and 5:15 P. M. on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Few "White" Buffaloes

In the old days Indians cherished the white buffalo robes almost beyond price.

In 1832 or 1833 the Mandans, says the Blackfeet at the mouth of the Yellowstone had a white buffalo robe, sent a delegation with eight horses and with trading goods the 200 miles to procure the robe if possible.

The delegation left the horses and the goods and returned afoot with the robe. This was consecrated to the Great Spirit and hung upon a pole, out of touch, as powerful medicine.

It is said that not one in 100,000 buffalo was white. Even at that, the color was likely to be a yellowish white, and the robe was known by the plainsmen as a "buckskin" robe. The pure white robe scarcely existed.

Basilicas

The name "Basilica" was given in ancient Rome to buildings used as meeting places for business men, and as courts of justice. A basilica consisted of a long central hall or nave, with aisles, the aisles being separated from the nave by pillars supporting the roof. At the end of the nave, opposite the entrance, was a raised platform, or dais, with seats for the judges. To give additional space there was sometimes added at this further end, a semicircular structure called an apse. After the introduction of Christianity, basilicas were very generally converted into churches, and thus it is that the form of the modern cathedral is derived from the ancient Roman basilica.—Kansas City Star.

Patriotic American

The pledge to the American flag that is used in most of our schools is attributed to James P. Spham, a Boston publisher, who in 1893 suggested its use in the schools. The idea was adopted by the National Education association, which persuaded congress to urge it to the attention of President Harrison, who, by proclamation of July 21, 1892, naming October 12 as a holiday in commemoration of the four-hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus in the New world, suggested the pledge to the flag be recited by the pupils and the flag raised over every school house.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

PRESENTS OF SILVERWARE

Aaron Johnson and Miss Hulda Erickson were united in marriage on Saturday, April 21st, by Rev. J. A. Johnson. Taken from the Brainerd Dispatch issue of April 27, 1900.

Friends of the above parties, about fifty in number, remembering the above important incident, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fredstrom, and from there went in a body to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, 1714 Laurel street, on Tuesday evening, to surprise them on their 25th wedding anniversary. The evening was spent informally, one feature being old favorite songs, sung by John Holvick, Harold Nelson, Miss Gladys Holvick and Miss Alice Johnson, with the last named at the piano.

A purse of silver and numerous other gifts of silverware were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, John Holvick making the address of presentation.

The evening closed with delicious refreshments, including a large wedding cake, a gift of those present.

FARM RADIO COUNCIL ARRANGES PROGRAMS

The National Farm Radio Council, serving as a contact point between the thousands of agricultural information sources and broadcasting stations to help in providing better farm radio programs, through the Farm Bureau, announces an agricultural program which will be given over Radiophone Station WRC Washington, D. C. The first feature on this program was an address given at 7:45 P. M., on April 16, by Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine. This talk was his initial radio address since assuming his new duties in the nation's Capitol. Secretary Jardine spoke on American Forest Week recently proclaimed by President Coolidge the week of April 27 to May 3 and participated in by organizations all over the United States.

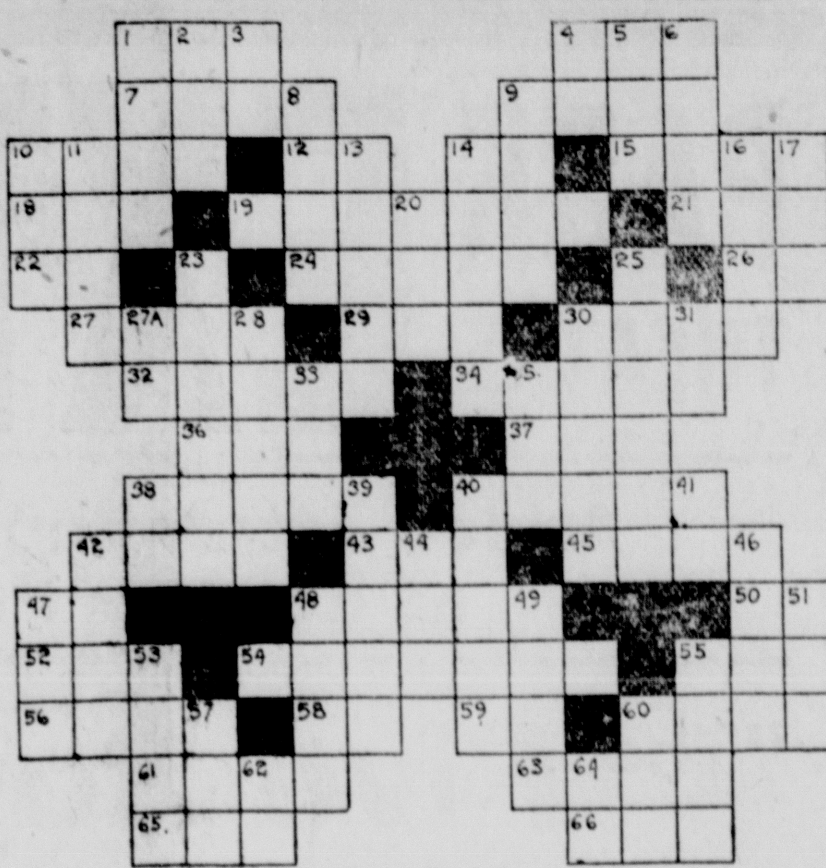

Secretary Jardine speaking of the importance of American Forest Week to Farmers, says, "Farmers, especially, should be awake to our country's forestry needs. One-third of all our forest land is in the form of farm woodlots and small holdings. Farmers also are the greatest single class of wood losers. These are sufficient reasons why forestry is of prime importance to agricultural interests in all parts of the country."

Radiophone Station KYW will broadcast on April 30, at 7:30 P. M., "Some Stories of 4-H Club Girls in the Southwest," by Mary Louis Doherty of the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

The regular review of the livestock market, furnished by the Chicago Livestock Exchange through arrangement with the National Farm Radio Council, will follow.

The Council announces a farm radio program which will be broadcast over Radio Station WGN at Chicago. This program will consist of four features a week, at 12 A. M. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and 5:15 P. M. on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Few "White" Buffaloes

In the old days Indians cherished the white buffalo robes as almost beyond price.

In 1832 or 1833 the Mandans, says the Pittsburgh Sun, hearing that the Blackfeet at the mouth of the Yellowstone had a white buffalo robe, sent a delegation with eight horses and with trading goods the 200 miles to procure the robe if possible.

The delegation left the horses and the goods and returned afoot with the robe. This was consecrated to the Great Spirit and hung upon a pole, out of touch, as powerful medicine.

It is said that not one in 100,000 buffalo was white. Even at that, the color was likely to be a yellowish white, and the robe was known by the plainsmen as a "buckskin" robe. The pure white robe scarcely existed.

Basilicas

The name "Basilica" was given in ancient Rome to buildings used as meeting places for business men, and as courts of justice. A basilica consisted of a long central hall or nave, with aisles, the aisles being separated from the nave by pillars supporting the roof. At the end of the nave, opposite the entrance, was a raised platform, or dais, with seats for the judges. To give additional space there was sometimes added at this further end, a semicircular structure called an apse. After the introduction of Christianity, basilicas were very generally converted into churches, and thus it is that the form of the modern cathedral is derived from the ancient Roman basilica.—Kansas City Star.

Patriotic American

The pledge to the American flag that is used in most of our schools is attributed to James P. Opham, a Boston publisher, who in 1893 suggested its use in the schools. The idea was adopted by the National Education association, which persuaded congress to urge it to the attention of President Harrison, who, by proclamation of July 21, 1892, naming October 12 as a holiday in commemoration of the four-hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus in the New world, suggested the pledge to the flag be recited by the pupils and the flag raised over every school house.

MINNESOTA'S NEW GOVERNMENT

MINNESOTA'S new plan of government gives the governor more power and also invests him with greater responsibility.

The Department of Administration and Finance commissioners are appointed by the governor and it is this department which is the foundation of the whole new superstructure of government.

The Brainerd Lake Region is especially interested in the Department of Conservation, in which is merged many an activity of interest to the tourist trade, such as game and fish conservation and propagation, forestry, land and lakes attraction board, land improvement, etc. Another important department of interest in our section is that devoted to drainage and waters.

The new government is divided into 13 departments, and briefly enumerated, their activities are as follows:

Executive Council—Composed of governor, attorney general, secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer, which will take over duties now imposed upon the board of timber commissions, board of deposit, Minnesota land commission and board of relief.

Department of Administration and Finance—Composed of commission of budget, comptroller and commissioner of purchases. This is the "heart" of the plan and is expected to produce substantial savings in efficient management of the state's finances. The personnel of all branches excepting board of control institutions, will be under this department's supervision. The commissioners are appointed by the governor and removable by him at will.

Department of Conservation—Headed by commissioner of game and fish, commissioner of forestry and fire prevention, and commissioner of lands and timber; the latter an ex-officio position held by the state auditor. Merges into its department present duties of the land and lakes attraction board, land improvement board, state board of immigration and the office of immigration commissioner, which are now abolished.

Department of Drainage and Waters—Takes over the present drainage commission and will be managed by one commissioner.

Department of Agriculture—Takes over present agriculture department and places under the commissioner in charge the work of the inspector of apiaries. Also vests in commissioner authority to approve state aid to various semi-state agricultural associations and activities before appropriations are available.

Department of Commerce—Three divisions, each in charge of a commissioner; banking, insurance and securities. Fire marshal's office abolished and duties turned over to insurance commissioner.

Department of Health—Takes over work of present state board of health, and also maintains a hotel inspector division.

Department of Education—Takes over work of present state board of education.

Department of Highways—Takes over work of present highway department in charge of one commissioner.

Department of Labor and Industry—Takes over work of present industrial commission, and one of the commissioners will be director of standards, an inspection branch. This department will also have the oil inspection work, in charge of a chief oil inspector.

Department of Public Institutions—The present board of control, subject to all authority of the department of administration and finance excepting over personnel, and allowed to purchase its own supplies for state institutions subject to supervision. Duties of advisory commission of state sanatorium for consumptives are given to this department, and the commission abolished. Work of the Minnesota society for prevention of cruelty also is placed in this department.

Department of Taxation—The present Minnesota tax commission, with its present powers and duties.

Department of Rural Credits—Succeeds the rural credits bureau, which is abolished. Will be administered by three members, two appointed by the governor and one an assistant attorney general.

DAWES' ARGUMENT OVER SENATE RULES

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES' argument over senate rules centers on this basis. He points out that it is important for the rules to give every senator a "square deal," but it is also important that they give the American people a "square deal."

The issue, as stated by Mr. Dawes, is this: "Shall the senate continue unchanged its existing rules which admittedly make possible at times, the exercise by a minority, or even one senator of power to block the purpose of a majority of the senate to legislate?"

It is carrying the question of personal privilege to such an extent that an individual is accorded more attention than the majority of the senate body. The expressed will of a majority which should govern is overridden by the objections of one senator. Thus, he points out, in certain cases, a senator can wield a greater power than that of the veto of a president.

Mr. Dawes inveighs against this growing power of the senate in this language: "Who can justly claim that the protection of the country against hasty legislation demands not only a concurrence in legislative action of two houses of congress, the veto power of the president of the United States and the power of revision by the supreme court of the United States but in addition a power during the end of a session of congress on the part of a minority, or even at times of one, of the 96 senators to block and destroy legislation by consuming time necessary or decision by prolonging debate until the session ends—a power the existence of which the constitution of the United States does not contemplate—a power which at times puts into the hands of minorities and individuals the ability to modify or control legislation by barter?"

Every one knows the senate permits unlimited debate. Any subject on earth, relevant or irrelevant, may be discussed at any time. But what Mr. Dawes objects to and the people will back him in his fight, is that the sentiment of the senate when clearly expressed by a majority, may face some inconsequential small group of senators or one senator even, who may arise, throw a monkey wrench into the legislative proceedings and snarl up the whole machinery.

The people are proclaimed the sovereigns of this republic and they certainly will reflect the views of Mr. Dawes that throwing legislative machinery out of gear in the manner indicated above, is something that shall not be tolerated.

FRANCE'S troubles seem to be largely oratorical.

A TRAGEDY of the sea was that of the Japanese freighter which saw the Homeric on the horizon, with help nearing, but had no lifeboats left to weather the seas and sank with every man on board. The liner with double stoker crews saw the freighter slip into her watery grave, powerless to aid her and only able to mark the latitude and longitude of her burial.

GUNS thought not loaded are the most dangerous.

A TOPIC of world-wide ramifications will be discussed in the short space of an afternoon by Mrs. Bess Wilson, vice president of the Minneapolis Federation, at the women's clubs meeting at Paynesville. Her subject is "Running the Universe."

Pointer for Those

Who Seek Knowledge

Once upon a time, according to an old story, a young man went to Socrates, the Greek philosopher, and said: "Sire, I come to you in search of knowledge. I have heard much about you, and have come a long way to find you. Will you not tell me how I can gain knowledge?"

Socrates said, "Follow me." The youth followed Socrates to a body of water and was surprised to see him wade into it up to his waist. He followed him and Socrates grasped him by the arm and head and thrust his head under the water. He held him there until it seemed the youth would surely perish. He dragged him to the shore and waited for the youth to catch his breath; then said: "My boy, what did you most desire when I held your head under the water?"

The youth replied: "Air."

Socrates said: "Go your way and remember that when you want knowledge as much as you wanted air when you were under water, you will get it."—Forbes Magazine.

One Place Where Rat

Is Not Thought Pest

A deity whose name is Ganesha is worshiped by the Hindus.

Because Ganesha is always pictured riding on a rat or attended by one, the rat receives part of the homage directed to the god. For this reason many rats live in state in the temple at Deshnoke, India, where there is an old and interesting shrine erected to this mythological god.

Pilgrims prostrate themselves before a group of rats, which have no idea in life beyond that of eating everything available and keeping a safe distance from cats and hawks. But they represent the rat god, Ganesha, and the temple in which they live is sacred on account of their presence. It is even called "the Rat Temple."

According to Hindu mythology, Ganesha was the lord of the Ganas, who were a group of inferior deities. Ganesha removes obstacles. He is propitiated at the beginning of any undertaking. He is particularly endowed with wisdom and judgment.

Scholars on Strike

Strikes are not a modern trouble. One of the earliest and oldest strikes on record is that which took place in Oxford, England, in 1209, when, in consequence of a peculiarly outrageous aggression of town upon gown, masters and scholars to the number of 3,000 "downed tools" and retired in high dudgeon to adjacent centers of learning. The schools were closed, the city was laid under an interdict, and the trouble only ended five years later—in the complete humiliation of the erring burgesses, who were compelled to do public penance and to accord large privileges to the university. When the offended clerks finally condescended to return, these "blacklegs," who had continued to lecture in defiance of the will of the majority were punished by three years' suspension.

How Cannon Are Spiked

In former times when the old-fashioned type of cannon was used the guns were disabled by driving an iron spike into the opening at the breech through which fire was communicated to the powder. This was called "spiking" the cannon. It was done when it was necessary to leave the guns behind to prevent their immediate use by the enemy. Such a dis-ablement was usually only temporary. The phrase, however, is retained in modern military usage. Spiking a cannon nowadays means breaking or carrying away part of the breech mechanism, making it impossible to use the gun without considerable repair.—Exchange.

Beggars' Trade Union

In China one of the most formidable trade unions is that of the beggars. Begging in that country is a recognized profession, and there is a properly organized guild of beggars in most districts.

Each guild has its own president and officers, and the members pay an annual subscription equaling about $4.00 in our money. The officials of the guilds wield such power that they enjoy the protection of the magistracy. So far there has been no strike on the part of the members of this union, which is undoubtedly the quietest organization of its kind in the world.

Do Not Force Plants

If a plant has been growing thriftily for some time and then begins to go back it probably needs a rest, and no amount of forcing will do any permanent good. During the resting period a plant is better if left entirely alone in a dry, cool cellar. It will of its own accord and without any attention of any kind begin to put out new green shoots. When these new shoots show themselves the plant should be given a thorough watering, a repotting if necessary, and brought up into its place in the sun. After it is growing well it may be given fertilizer.

Early Doctors' Fees High

In the fourteenth century doctors' fees were very high, as, apart from the sum paid down, the patient contracted to allow his medical man an annuity for as long as he lived, or employed him.—New York Times.

Gentlemen:

On Monday March 23, I sent you one dollar for which you was to send me one bottle of Skaugs Stomach Remedy, and I received the bottle yesterday, but it was all smashed and all the medicine had run out.

I saw the post master at Osakis about it today, and he said that I should write to you people, as he said it had not been properly wrapped, and the post master at Brainerd should not have accepted same.

Now I am a poor man and I do not like to pay for that bottle twice, but I need the medicine very bad so please send me another bottle.

It is the only medicine that has helped me, I have suffered with stomach trouble for a number of years.

You may use this letter that I am writing you, as your medicine sure have done wonders for me, I have also told others about it, and will continue to do so.

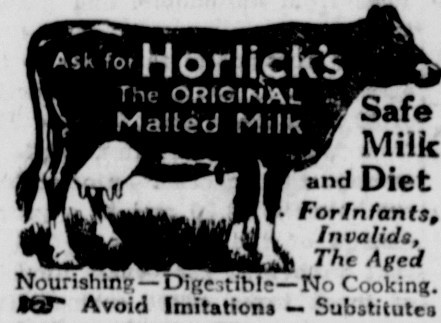

I remain,

Department of Education—Takes over work of present state board of education.

Department of Highways—Takes over work of present highway department in charge of one commissioner.

Department of Labor and Industry—Takes over work of present industrial commission, and one of the commissioners will be director of standards, an inspection branch. This department will also have the oil inspection work, in charge of a chief oil inspector.

Department of Public Institutions—The present board of control, subject to all authority of the department of administration and finance excepting over personnel, and allowed to purchase its own supplies for state institutions subject to supervision. Duties of advisory commission of state sanatorium for consumptives are given to this department, and the commission abolished. Work of the Minnesota society for prevention of cruelty also is placed in this department.

Department of Taxation—The present Minnesota tax commission, with its present powers and duties.

Department of Rural Credits—Succeeds the rural credits bureau, which is abolished. Will be administered by three members, two appointed by the governor and one an assistant attorney general.

DAWES' ARGUMENT OVER SENATE RULES

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES' argument over senate rules centers on this basis. He points out that it is important for the rules to give every senator a "square deal," but it is also important that they give the American people a "square deal."

The issue, as stated by Mr. Dawes, is this: "Shall the senate continue unchanged its existing rules which admittedly make possible at times, the exercise by a minority, or even one senator of power to block the purpose of a majority of the senate to legislate?"

It is carrying the question of personal privilege to such an extent that an individual is accorded more attention than the majority of the senate body. The expressed will of a majority which should govern is overridden by the objections of one senator. Thus, he points out, in certain cases, a senator can wield a greater power than that of the veto of a president.

Mr. Dawes inveighs against this growing power of the senate in this language: "Who can justly claim that the protection of the country against hasty legislation demands not only a concurrence in legislative action of two houses of congress, the veto power of the president of the United States and the power of revision by the supreme court of the United States but in addition a power during the end of a session of congress on the part of a minority, or even at times of one, of the 96 senators to block and destroy legislation by consuming time necessary or decision by prolonging debate until the session ends—a power the existence of which the constitution of the United States does not contemplate—a power which at times puts into the hands of minorities and individuals the ability to modify or control legislation by barter?"

Every one knows the senate permits unlimited debate. Any subject on earth, relevant or irrelevant, may be discussed at any time. But what Mr. Dawes objects to and the people will back him in his fight, is that the sentiment of the senate when clearly expressed by a majority, may face some inconsequential small group of senators or one senator even, who may arise, throw a monkey wrench into the legislative proceedings and snarl up the whole machinery.

The people are proclaimed the sovereigns of this republic and they certainly will reflect the views of Mr. Dawes that throwing legislative machinery out of gear in the manner indicated above, is something that shall not be tolerated.

FRANCE'S troubles seem to be largely oratorical.

A TRAGEDY of the sea was that of the Japanese freighter which saw the Homeric on the horizon, with help nearing, but had no lifeboats left to weather the seas and sank with every man on board. The liner with double stoker crews saw the freighter slip into her watery grave, powerless to aid her and only able to mark the latitude and longitude of her burial.

GUNS thought not loaded are the most dangerous.

A TOPIC of world-wide ramifications will be discussed in the short space of an afternoon by Mrs. Bess Wilson, vice president of the Minneapolis Federation, at the women's clubs meeting at Paynesville. Her subject is "Running the Universe."

Pointer for Those

Who Seek Knowledge

Once upon a time, according to an old story, a young man went to Socrates, the Greek philosopher, and said: "Sire, I come to you in search of knowledge. I have heard much about you, and have come a long way to find you. Will you not tell me how I can gain knowledge?"

Socrates said, "Follow me." The youth followed Socrates to a body of water and was surprised to see him wade into it up to his waist. He followed him and Socrates grasped him by the arm and head and thrust his head under the water. He held him there until it seemed the youth would surely perish. He dragged him to the shore and waited for the youth to catch his breath; then said: "My boy, what did you most desire when I held your head under the water?"

The youth replied: "Air."

Socrates said: "Go your way and remember that when you want knowledge as much as you wanted air when you were under water, you will get it."—Forbes Magazine.

One Place Where Rat

Is Not Thought Pest

A deity whose name is Ganesha is worshipped by the Hindus.

Because Ganesha is always pictured riding on a rat or attended by one, the rat receives part of the homage directed to the god. For this reason many rats live in state in the temple at Deshnoke, India, where there is an old and interesting shrine erected to this mythological god.

Pilgrims prostrate themselves before a group of rats, which have no idea in life beyond that of eating everything available and keeping a safe distance from cats and hawks. But they represent the rat god, Ganesha, and the temple in which they live is sacred on account of their presence. It is even called "the Rat Temple."

According to Hindu mythology, Ganesha was the lord of the Ganas, who were a group of inferior deities. Ganesha removes obstacles. He is propitiated at the beginning of any undertaking. He is particularly endowed with wisdom and judgment.

Scholars on Strike

Strikes are not a modern trouble. One of the earliest and oddest strikes on record is that which took place in Oxford, England, in 1209, when, in consequence of a peculiarly outrageous aggression of town upon gown, masters and scholars to the number of 3,000 "downed tools" and retired in high dudgeon to adjacent centers of learning. The schools were closed, the city was laid under an interdict, and the trouble only ended five years later—in the complete humiliation of the erring burgesses, who were compelled to do public penance and to accord large privileges to the university. When the offended clerks finally condescended to return, these "blacklegs," who had continued to lecture in defiance of the will of the majority were punished by three years' suspension.

How Cannon Are Spiked

In former times when the old-fashioned type of cannon was used the guns were disabled by driving an iron spike into the opening at the breech through which fire was communicated to the powder. This was called "spiking" the cannon. It was done when it was necessary to leave the guns behind, to prevent their immediate use by the enemy. Such disablement was usually only temporary. The phrase, however, is retained in modern military usage. Spiking a cannon nowadays means breaking or carrying away part of the breech mechanism, making it impossible to use the gun without considerable repair.—Exchange.

Beggars' Trade Union

In China one of the most formidable trade unions is that of the beggars. Begging in that country is a recognized profession, and there is a properly organized guild of beggars in most districts.

Each guild has its own president and officers, and the members pay an annual subscription equaling about $4.00 in our money. The officials of the guilds wield such power that they enjoy the protection of the magistracy. So far there has been no strike on the part of the members of this union, which is undoubtedly the quaintest organization of its kind in the world.

Do Not Force Plants

If a plant has been growing thriftily for some time and then begins to go back it probably needs a rest, and no amount of forcing will do any permanent good. During the resting period a plant is better if left entirely alone in a dry, cool cellar. It will of its own accord and without any attention of any kind begin to put out new green shoots. When these new shoots show themselves the plant should be given a thorough watering, a repotting if necessary, and brought up into its place in the sun. After it is growing well it may be given fertilizer.

Early Doctors' Fees High

In the fourteenth century doctors' fees were very high, as, apart from the sum paid down, the patient contracted to allow his medical man an annuity for as long as he lived, or employed him.—New York Times.

Gentlemen:

On Monday March 23, I sent you one dollar for which you was to send me one bottle of Skauges Stomach Remedy, and I received the bottle yesterday, but it was all smashed and all the medicine had run out.

I saw the post master at Osakis about it today, and he said that I should write to you people, as he said it had not been properly wrapped, and the post master at Brainerd should not have accepted same.

Now I am a poor man and I do not like to pay for that bottle twice, but I need the medicine very bad so please send me another bottle.

It is the only medicine that has helped me. I have suffered with stomach trouble for a number of years.

You may use this letter that I am writing you, as your medicine sure have done wonders for me, I have also told others about it, and will continue to do so.

I remain,

Yours very truly,

Brainerd's Popularity As a Lake Resort Center Growing Rapidly

The people of Minnesota and all nature lovers are rapidly learning what Brainerd people already know—that we are right in the heart of the most beautiful lake and woods section of the state.

During the last few days we have helped boost in the following ways.

E. T. CEDARLEAF has bought material for a cottage to be built on Long Lake.

A. C. FLOAN will start work on his new summer home on Gull Lake very soon. It is near the Government Dam.

ALBIN JOHNSON has put up several new cottages on his Mille Lacs resort.

I. W. QUINLAN has built a new log cottage on Gull Lake.

MRS. CAPLIN has enlarged her summer home near Grand View on Gull Lake.

And we are answering lake cottage questions and showing plans and making estimates every day.

CLOTHES FOR THE SALARIED GIRL ARE NOTED

EARMARK OF 1925 COAT INCLUDES FURLESS COLLARS, FLAT BACKS

EVERY ARTICLE IN FEMININE APPAREL IS CHANGE TO-WARDS SIMPLICITY

By REDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)
New York, N. Y., April 22.—A long coat covers a multitude of fashion sins! That is why a separate coat is the most sensible thing for the salaried woman to buy as an in-between season costume.

At the end of winter, one always has several half-worn-out dresses which are too good to be discarded and which the chilly weather makes permissible. Under a spring coat they can do duty for three months.

If one can afford it, new dresses can be added to the spring wardrobe for wear under the long coat. Whatever dresses are purchased now, should be of spring materials, since they are to be worn on the first warm days when the coat becomes too heavy. If one chooses correct colors one can turn the long coat into an ensemble suit. Or, better still, one can have a whole wardrobe with three dresses and a long coat. In this case the coat must be very simple but harmonizing in some way with the various gowns. Kasha is the recognized coat material of the year. A simple coat of Kasha matched by a simple kasha frock gives one a dress for work or street wear. A crepe frock in tone with the coat as an afternoon frock or semi-dressy frock. One can wear this same coat over a dressy evening or dinner frock of similar coloring.

This year we have such a variety of coats that it is impossible to describe them all. But the first spring coat should be of cloth rather than silk. However, the silk coat lined in Kasha has warmth and is decidedly chic. Coats of pastel shades are very good this year. Even the business woman finds the pastel coat permissible. Light shades of green or shades of roses are those most popular. Navy blue is smart and although this color has been neglected for some years it has a foothold again. Black coats trimmed in fox are to be the "fords" of the season. Bright reds are as numerous as they were during the winter.

Except for the men-tailored coats, women are not having coats made to order this year. Stores are showing beautifully printed and embroidered coat materials, but one rarely sees coats made of them on the street.

Earmarks of the 1925 Coat
Here are a few of the most evident earmarks of the 1925 coat: Furless collars, flat backs, flared fronts and fur-trimmed borders. There are models which vary from these lines, such as the coat which flare in circular movement all the way about the hem and the double-breasted effects which are fastened with huge bone buttons. Blanch Sweet of motion picture fame recently returned from Europe wearing one of the latter which was trimmed about the wide, circular hem with caracul, an up-standing collar also being caracul-trimmed. Since the Russian influence was reflected in her coat, Miss Sweet wore high Russian boots and a Russian turban.

In mentioning coats one must necessarily speak of hats, since the hat this year usually matches the coat in color. The whole tendency seems to be to get a becoming color scheme and stick to it. When the coat is pastel, the hat is of the same pastel shade. Even those who wear black coats prefer small black felt hats to contrasting colored ones. Small hats, as we all know, rule at present. Later we shall see the wide-brimmed shape returned in all its glory. The dancing craze has been responsible for the great popularity of the headshaped hat, but assuredly women cannot always be dancing and milliners have decided that our summer bonnets shall be large and transparent.

Trend to Simplicity
There is not one article in feminine apparel that hasn't undergone a change towards simplicity. Sports clothes have become so universally popular that we see sports lines reflecting in our more dressy clothes.

Even jewelry has turned towards severity. Pins made of brilliants in shapes of animals such as horses, elephants, dogs, etc., are one of the fads of the moment. Bracelets are huge linked chains. Necklaces of pearls as large as hazel nuts are preferred to more feminine types. Leather envelope purses are displacing the ornate beaded bags.

As to shoes, pumps are more popular than strapped affairs. And stockings are getting away from nude tones and matching the shade of the frock. The smallest accessory shows tailored earmarks.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

Gives You Free Miles

Polarine tests, in comparison with other oils, prove that with the right grade of Polarine in your crankcase, you get more miles, gallon for gallon of gasoline, than with other oils.

You may regard these extra miles as a gift from Polarine.

The explanation of the extra mileage lies in the Polarine film, which is so perfect in wear and heat resistance as to be practically flawless. This conserves compression; increases power and mileage.

It is in frequent stopping and starting, hill climbing, crawling along in traffic—that the true character of an oil is shown up.

Polarine meets the test positively and decisively.

Polarine maintains a cushion of oil in an unbroken film between the frictional surfaces of your engine. It enables these parts to move freely, quietly and efficiently. With poor or insufficient lubrication, these moving parts grind and become searing hot.

DODGE BROTHERS SPECIAL TOURING CAR

The first cars bearing Dodge Brothers name were Touring Cars.

They were good and sturdy cars, so good and so sturdy that no radical change in basic design has been found necessary during these ten intervening years.

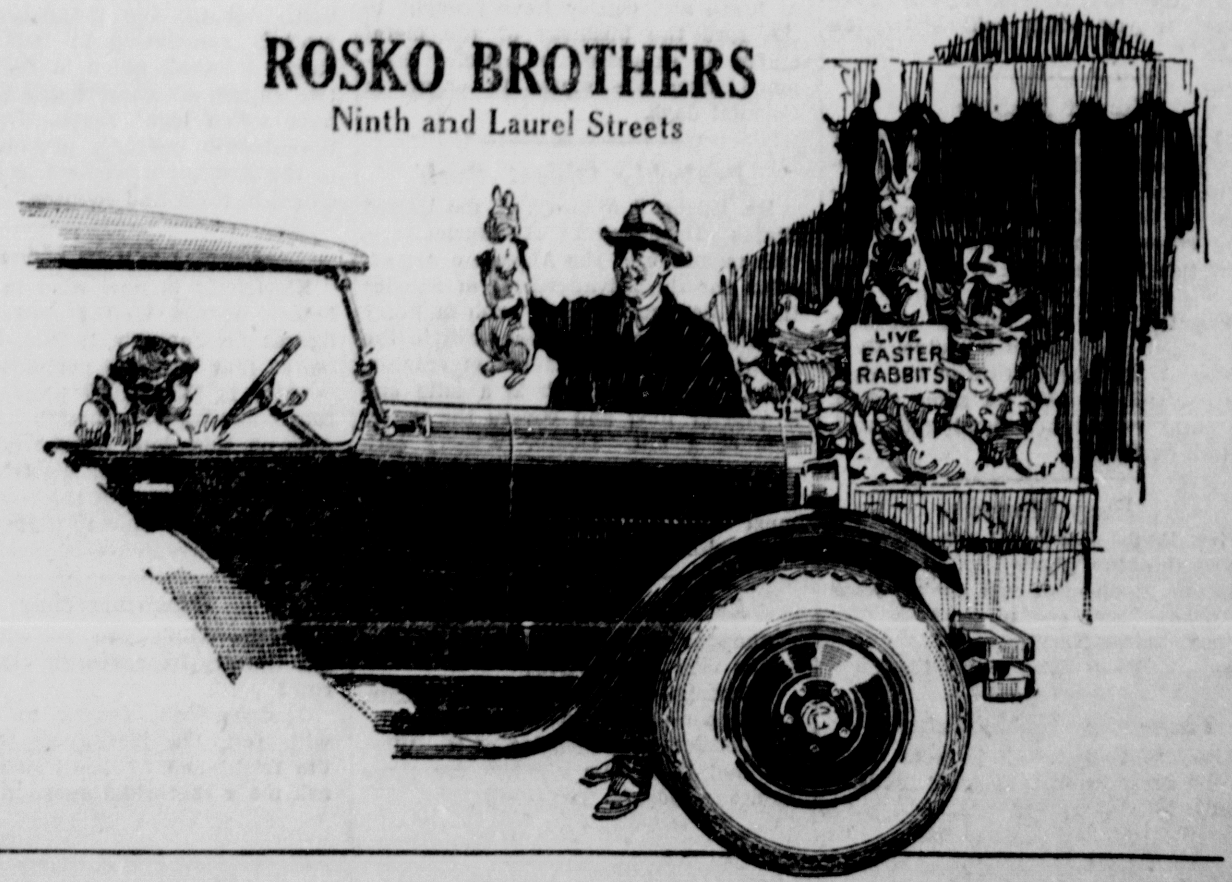

This fact has had far-reaching results. It has enabled Dodge Brothers to dedicate those ten years to the constant betterment of the original product.

More recently this endless process of improvement has manifested itself in various and impressive ways—in a new degree of riding comfort, a new smoothness of operation, a new and appealing beauty of line, and in those special details of appointment which distinguish the Special Touring Car.

PUT BEAUTY ABOVE RULE AND REASON

In All Ages Fashion's Law Has Been Supreme.

Every once in a while somebody says the nation is on the skids because women pass a few hours a week (or a month) in a beauty shop. That's old stuff. So old that the ancient Greeks, if they could return, would laugh about it. For, 2,300 years ago, Greek women passed a large part of the day improving their "Spartan-like natural beauty," contributes L. P. Elchell to Collier's Magazine.

Greek women, it is true, were home women. Custom decreed that they should have many home duties and few opportunities to meet strange men. They "fixed up," nevertheless. The rich Greek woman went farther than the average wealthy American woman. She had a slave or two to rub fragrant oils into her body following a bath. The hair was pomaded and perhaps dyed, the face rouged, the eyebrows were dyed with black paint.

Greek comic writers and poets vainly tried to stop the "beautifying." They told how unbecoming it was to a civilized people to have black streams pouring from the eyes, color running down to the neck from the cheeks and the hair becoming green through contact with white lead on the forehead.

France was represented as "going to the dogs" in 1782 by Mercier, a writer of that period.

Mercier satirized false mustaches affected by men, as well as pointed and powdered wigs; and the curls in tiers and the scent of essences and amber powder on women.

The indignant writer asserted the powder (flour) used in Paris in a single day on 2,000 heads would have fed "10,000 unfortunate persons."

At that time, he said, there were 1,200 hairdressers under patent of the king in Paris, employing 6,000 boy helpers. In addition, there were 2,000 chamberlains following the same occupation in the homes of the rich, and 6,000 lackeys "with hardly any other occupation." Besides, persons were employed manufacturing hair papers, curling irons and razors.

Mercier could see no other outcome but the ruination of all of Europe, as France was setting styles, and this particular style took people away from homes and business to barber shops. And, worst of all (according to Mercier), the atmosphere of the barber shops was one of gossip, and—he whispered—barbers and hairdressers were a "race of liars."

On the Way to Bermuda

A liner plowed her way Bermuda-ward over a blue, smooth sea. Here and there sailors, with pots of paint and huge brushes, painted cows, stanchions, rails, everything they could reach.

Suddenly, dropping his brush, one of the sailors rushed to a man in a black suit.

"Oh, sir," he cried distressfully, "you've sat down on fresh white paint."

Like a rocket the man leaped to his feet, curled himself round and stared at the seat of his trousers.

"But I've got a bottle of benzine in my bunk," said the sailor. "I'll run and get it. I'll have your clothes all right in a jiffy."

Soon the clothes were all right, and the man, ere he strolled jauntily off (a little wet and smelly, perhaps), gave the sailor a quarter.

"That's the third time today, Bill," the sailor said to his mate. "I tell you, what with all this paintin', us jacksies does nearly as good on tips as the stewards."

"That's right," said Bill. "I made two simoleons myself yesterday with me little bottle of benzine."

Tea Soup

Father William E. Cashin, who has resigned as chaplain of Sing Sing prison after 12 years' service, said at a reception in New York:

"The cooking is one of many things that have improved at Sing Sing. The cooking there in the past was—well, it was like the story.

"This story is about a prison cook who made tea in a kettle and then made soup in the same kettle with out first washing it out.

"When the cook discovered his mistake, he said, as he ladled the soup into the prisoners' plates:

"By the way, fellows, if ye find tea leaves in yer soup ye'll know it's thyme."

Sweet Names

A kindergarten teacher in the Dwyer school, the Detroit News says, was trying to teach the names of various animals to her young charges and was using cut-out illustrations as an aid.

"Now this is a deer," said the teacher, as she held up a picture. Shortly after she held up the various pictures and asked the pupils to give their names. When the picture of the deer was pointed out and its name asked, one child raised her hand and said, "It is a darling."

SHEER BLUFF MADE BY SCOUT WON OUT

Audacity Dumfounded War Party of Redskins.

It was related by a scout named Sage that on one occasion in Kansas in 1848, being out with his friend Grin in search for a fertile place on which to recruit their horses, they had wandered some miles out of sight of the caravan, when, upon descending the ridge of a mound into the hollow beyond, they were confronted by a party of Pawnees. Without pausing to reflect, the traders turned their horses' heads and galloped back the way they had come. The redskins gave rapid chase, and their arrows began to whistle on the still air. H. R. Waterman writes in Adventure Magazine.

"There are 500 of the—" exclaimed Grin to his companion.

"There are not forty," said Sage.

"Twenty dollars" on it there are forty," was rejoined.

"Twenty dollars, then, is the figure," said Sage.

And not slackening their speed for an instant, the hands of the doughty disputants were grasped in confirmation of the bet.

"And now, how are we to know who wins?" was the query.

"I'll count them," said Grin, and thereupon the veteran of the woods wheeled full into the faces of the assailants and, extending the forefinger of the left hand while his right grasped a revolver, deliberately began counting—

"One—two—three—four—"

Amazed at this turn of affairs and not knowing what to make of it, the foremost Pawnee drew in his pony. Almost within scalping distance, the others came to a halt. Then seized with dismay at the assurance which enabled a lone man upon the prairie to breast the full tide of their charge and not being able to surmise what invisible danger was about to burst upon them, their hearts failed them, and hurry-scurry, they bolted off at every point.

"Eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two—"

The lank finger of the trader slowly wagged in the direction of the receding forms as Sage, taking a curve, came around to his aid.

"Thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine," he uttered with animation, as the last dusky figure dodged behind the crest of the mound.

Then turning, with a complacent smile, he said:

"There must have been forty. Who wins?"

"Make it a draw game, and I'll stand treat," answered Sage, and the chums amicably continued together their quest for water and grass.

Modern Girl Superior

Girls of today come much nearer being modern Dianas than their sisters of the preceding generations. The physical education department of an Ohio coeducational college has presented the evidence.

The modern girl is taller, stronger and heavier than her grandmother and her mother were at the same age. The tests are conclusive, for they represent studies made of 1,600 women entering college in each of three periods: from 1886 to 1903, from 1909 to 1915, and from 1918 to 1922.

The average freshman woman, up to 1903, was 5 feet 2-6-10 inches in height. Her college sister of this day is nearly two inches taller.

Various strength tests similarly show the superiority of the modern girl. Feminine styles and the social requirements for women today admittedly are not perfect, although they represent a distinct advance over the last decades of the Nineteenth and the first decade of the Twentieth centuries.—Toledo Blade.

Metal in Home Decoration

Dame Fashion has a way of repeating herself. This is proved by the accent now being given to the use of brass and copper in home decoration—a use as old as brass itself; a use which emphasizes the old-fashioned open fireplace, the quiet light of candles.

As one writer on the subject of interior decoration puts it, "Always to be counted on to do their part in making cheerful a drab interior, brass and copper, with their scintillating surfaces have been put to the test and have not yet been found wanting."

The revival and increase of the use of brass and copper have brought to the fore the business of the metal crafts as expressed in articles fashioned after the styles in vogue in Colonial days.

Probably Oldest Bush

Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, of the United States Department of Agriculture, told members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that a box huckleberry bush in Perry county, Pa., is the oldest bush in the world. At least that is his opinion.

This remarkable bush is a mile and a quarter long and covers the entire side of a hill. Doctor Wherry estimates that it grows six inches a year. Taking that as a basis the plant must now be something like 12,000 years old.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Many and Varied Are Sources of Happiness

A quaint and well-loved philosopher asserted his belief that one must get happiness out of one's work or never know what happiness is. The dictum remains unchallenged, as such things usually do; yet this philosopher's wisdom was the product of his limitations and was inspired by the poverty of his experience.

Observe, by way of refutation, the man who burns powder. An autumn day finds him afield, striding through stubble in the wake of a brown-eyed dog. The air is crisp and sweet; the distant hills are blue; the sky above is without a cloud. The dog becomes a statue; there is a whirr of wings; the two barrels of gun roar in quick succession. This isn't work, but no fabled king ever was happier than this bronzed hunter.

Observe the man on his hands and knees. He is a bear. He grows. He advances with great stealth. Behind a chair a small boy crouches, affecting terror. There is a rush, a very bedlam of ferocious growls, and then ecstatic squeals as the capture is completed. An undignified business, perhaps; but not work. Yet who could be happier than this man who romps with his son?

Observe the woman in the chair, interminably rocking, interminably knitting. The rocking and the knitting are not work; they are but accompaniments to the serious business of life. The serious business is talking—interminably talking—about people and their frailties. The dear woman enjoys the sound of her voice; enjoys the appreciative silence of her audiences. The world holds none who are happier than she.

Observe the sober folks who sit in pews. Their faces are lighted by a peace that passes understanding. They have found happiness.

Observe the young woman on the street, rouged, powdered, freshly bobbed, garbed from head to toe as fashion decrees. She pauses at a shop window to inspect her image. There is nothing on her mind except her precious self. She is a dream and she knows it. And in all the world there is no bliss so flawless and so complete as hers.

Happiness, in short, is for those who have the capacity for it.

Grave of Noted Chief?

An ancient Indian grave believed to hold the remains of Chief Am-puh, the Plute Indian leader after whom the city of Nampa, Idaho, was named, has been found by R. W. Limbert, whose explorations in the country now known as the Craters of the Moon national monument contributed greatly to national recognition of that territory, says a dispatch from Pocatello, Idaho.

While hunting in the desert close to the Nevada line recently, Mr. Limbert said he found a flat rock upon which there was carved an arrow. Following the general direction of the arrow he found other rocks with similar carvings. The end of the line of arrow rocks was a huge mound of stones with a flat one resting horizontally on top.

The flat rock was engraved crudely with the figure of an Indian with abnormally large feet and hands; around the figure was a circle, the death sign of the Plutes.

The dead chief is reputed to have had enormously large feet and hands and it is a tradition that one of his feet was six inches wide and eighteen inches long. The attempt of the carver to show the large hands and feet leads Limbert to believe that it is the grave of Chief Nam-puh.

Give Up Horseshoe Making

Manufacturing horseshoes is no longer profitable, the United States Steel corporation finds, automobiles having so thoroughly displaced the horse in America. Announcement has been made that the American Steel and Wire company, one of the larger subsidiaries of the Steel corporation, has sold the machinery, stock and good will of its horseshoe department to the Phoenix Horseshoe company of Chicago. The demand for horseshoes, it was said, had dwindled to such an extent that the company found it could devote the space required by its horseshoe plant to better advantage by manufacturing products more generally in demand.

Origin of Football

However ancient their origins most of our popular games date back only to the athletic revival of the Nineteenth century. As an instance, football. Not till the foundation of the football association in 1863 and the Rugby Football union in 1871 can the two games we know today be said to have taken legal shape. During the Seventeenth century, probably owing to the Puritan movement, football declined in town and country.

Electricity in Homes

Electricity is now used in half the homes of the United States. From figures for January 1, 1925, it is estimated that the total population of the country is 113,809,000 people and the total number of homes 23,290,889. Also on this date there were 13,252,985 homes wired for electric service. Thus 56.4 per cent of the homes of the nation are now able to enjoy the comfort and convenience of electricity.

Tigress Ready to Fight Against Odds for Cubs

According to an authority on big game, a tigress is an excellent mother. He says:

I once saw a tigress with two small cubs, about the size of fox hounds, come out of some heavy bush cover, which was being beaten by three or four elephants. The two cubs trotted on ahead, and in order to cover their retreat, the tigress twice charged the line of elephants, roaring loudly.

The cubs would probably have died if I had shot the mother, so I let her go. I thought she deserved this for her bravery.

There were not many tigers about in this particular neighborhood, but strictly speaking it was probably most improper to spare her life, as game was scarce in that locality and this tigress would therefore have probably educated her cubs in the art of cattle killing. A tigress with growing cubs is far more destructive than a tiger or tigress alone, or as a pair.

The tiger cub at birth is very small—in fact, not much bigger than a large rat. Three or four cubs is the usual number, but as a rule only two of a litter grow up. I have once seen four almost full-grown cubs and the tigress all together. The cubs stay with the mother until they are nearly full grown. I have shot them in company with their mother when the male cubs measured eight feet four inches in length, and the females about seven feet six inches. The average length of a full-grown male tiger is about nine feet six inches and of the female, about one foot less. A tiger over ten feet is an exceptionally large one. Ten feet four inches was the length of the biggest I ever shot, and the largest tigress I ever saw was nine feet two inches.

Ordinarily a tiger will kill only sufficient animals for his own needs, and assuming that his kills are not removed by the natives or devoured by vultures, two kills weekly are quite enough for him. A big male tiger is quite a noble-looking animal.

Skunks and Their Habits

W. Kenneth Cuyler, of the zoology department of the University of Texas, having completely lost his sense of smell, has taken advantage of this unusual condition and hunted and studied skunks for many years. He finds they are easily tamed and make fine mousers. Besides mice, they eat all sorts of things, from roots, berries and insects to birds and eggs, and sometimes rival the possum in their ability to rob the chicken roost. The musk which efficiently defends the skunk from most people is manufactured by two egg-shaped glands with contractile walls which can force out jets in any direction, even directly over the head of the skunk. These jets break up into a fine spray and can reach an object as distant as 20 feet. Mr. Cuyler says skunks are usually loath to waste their musk and therefore do not discharge it promiscuously, but only when cornered and irritated. For removing skunk odor, Mr. Cuyler suggests washing in gasoline or ammonia water, or in water containing a few drops of carbolic acid and oil of wintergreen. A much more effective method, which he regularly uses, is to hold face and hands or clothing for a few minutes in the thick, heavy smoke produced by placing green juniper branches on a good fire.

One of War's Martyrs

Freed from living death, Trooper T. W. Rolfe, known the world over as "The Man in the Bath," has died at Randwick Military hospital, Sydney, Australia. Rolfe was literally flayed alive by German poison gas. His was a case unique in medical history, for he was condemned to pass the rest of his days at Randwick in a bath of tepid water, constantly circulating to keep off surface poisons. "Well, anyway, a bloke can't get much worse," was his smiling comment to the visitors he loved to see. Rolfe became a world figure of sympathy through the publicity his case received, and he had correspondents in Alaska, North China, North and South Africa, Scotland, and various parts of the United States.

Sues an Entire Village

Count Friedrich Szechenyi, a Hungarian aristocrat, is bringing legal action against the entire village of Peterhida in southwestern Hungary. Szechenyi leased a piece of land to the villagers for a rental of one-quarter of a carload of grain a year. The village neglected to pay and the count is bringing suit. He has had the legal forms run off on a duplicating machine and will serve each villager. The case will be heard in Nagyatad, the nearest county seat, and the entire population of Peterhida will have to appear.

Modern Setting

An Emporia school teacher was attempting to familiarize her pupils with the picture of Mona Lisa, by weaving about it a romantic story.

"Do you see the strange background of the picture, children?" she said. "Now where do you suppose Mona Lisa was sitting to have that strange view at her back?"

Blind Not All Dependent

Out of 600 blind people in New Zealand, only 87 have applied for the pension granted by parliament. The explanation is that they are able to make a good living in various ways.

Toothless Cow

A drover bought a young cow in Stratford, N. H., for a very small price from a man who didn't know as much about a cow's anatomy as he now does. The drover claimed the animal was pretty ancient and declared that her upper jaw proved it, as she had lost all her teeth. The owner, not knowing that cattle never possess upper teeth, reluctantly agreed and sold for a song.

Two Types of Artists

The great artist is forever enlarging the scope of human art and embracing things with love that have never known art before. He can only do that by making them beautiful, and the would-be artist who brings into what he calls his art things that are ugly and remain just as ugly after he has touched them is nothing in the world.—Havelock Ellis.

"Eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two—"

The lank finger of the trader slowly wagged in the direction of the receding forms as Sage, taking a curve, came around to his aid.

"Thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine," he uttered with animation, as the last dusky figure dodged behind the crest of the mound.

Then turning, with a complacent smile, he said:

"There must have been forty. Who wins?"

"Make it a draw game, and I'll stand treat," answered Sage, and the chums amicably continued together their quest for water and grass.

Modern Girl Superior

Girls of today come much nearer being modern Dianas than their sisters of the preceding generations. The physical education department of an Ohio coeducational college has presented the evidence.

The modern girl is taller, stronger and heavier than her grandmother and her mother were at the same age. The tests are conclusive, for they represent studies made of 1,900 women entering college in each of three periods: from 1886 to 1903, from 1903 to 1915, and from 1915 to 1922.

The average freshman woman, up to 1903, was 5 feet 2-10 inches in height. Her college sister of this day is nearly two inches taller.

Various strength tests similarly show the superiority of the modern girl. Feminine styles and the social requirements for women today admittedly are not perfect, although they represent a distinct advance over the last decades of the Nineteenth and the first decade of the Twentieth centuries.—Toledo Blade.

Metal in Home Decoration

Dame Fashion has a way of repeating herself. This is proved by the accent now being given to the use of brass and copper in home decoration—a use as old as brass itself; a use which emphasizes the old-fashioned open fireplace, the quiet light of candles.

As one writer on the subject of interior decoration puts it, "Always to be counted on to do their part in making cheerful a drab interior, brass and copper, with their scintillating surfaces have been put to the test and have not yet been found wanting."

The revival and increase of the use of brass and copper have brought to the fore the business of the metal crafts as expressed in articles fashioned after the styles in vogue in Colonial days.

Probably Oldest Bush

Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, of the United States Department of Agriculture, told members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that a box huckleberry bush in Perry county, Pa., is the oldest bush in the world. At least that is his opinion. This remarkable bush is a mile and a quarter long and covers the entire side of a hill. Doctor Wherry estimates that it grows six inches a year. Taking that as a basis the plant must now be something like 12,000 years old.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Evidently Latest Style

Shopper—You assure me that this is the very latest style?

Salesman—The very latest, madam.

Shopper—And it won't fade?

Salesman—I'm positive of it. Why, we had it in our window for three months.—Boston Transcript.

Many and Varied Are Sources of Happiness

A quaint and well-loved philosopher asserted his belief that one must get happiness out of one's work or never know what happiness is. The dictum remains unchallenged, as such things usually do; yet this philosopher's wisdom was the product of his limitations and was inspired by the poverty of his experience.

Observe, by way of refutation, the man who burns powder. An autumn day finds him afield, striding through stubble in the wake of a brown-eyed dog. The air is crisp and sweet; the distant hills are blue; the sky above is without a cloud. The dog becomes a statue; there is a whirr of wings; the two barrels of gun roar in quick succession. This isn't work, but no fabled king ever was happier than this bronzed hunter.

Observe the man on his hands and knees. He is a bear. He growls. He advances with great stealth. Behind a chair a small boy crouches, affecting terror. There is a rush, a very bedlam of ferocious growls, and then ecstatic squeals as the capture is completed. An undignified business, perhaps; but not work. Yet who could be happier than this man who romps with his son?

Observe the woman in the chair, interminably rocking, interminably knitting. The rocking and the knitting are not work; they are but accompaniments to the serious business of life. The serious business is talking—interminably talking—about people and their frailties. The dear woman enjoys the sound of her voice; enjoys the appreciative silence of her audiences. The world holds none who are happier than she.

Observe the sober folks who sit in pews. Their faces are lighted by a peace that passes understanding. They have found happiness.

Observe the young woman on the street, rouged, powdered, freshly bobbed, garbed from head to toe as fashion decrees. She pauses at a shop window to inspect her image. There is nothing on her mind except her precious self. She is a dream and she knows it. And in all the world there is no bliss so flawless and so complete as hers.

Happiness, in short, is for those who have the capacity for it.

Grave of Noted Chief?

An ancient Indian grave believed to hold the remains of Chief Am-puh, the Plute Indian leader after whom the city of Nampa, Idaho, was named, has been found by R. W. Limbert, whose explorations in the country now known as the Craters of the Moon national monument contributed greatly to national recognition of that territory, says a dispatch from Pocatello, Idaho.

While hunting in the desert close to the Nevada line recently, Mr. Limbert said he found a flat rock upon which there was carved an arrow. Following the general direction of the arrow he found other rocks with similar carvings. The end of the line of arrow rocks was a huge mound of stones with a flat one resting horizontally on top.

The flat rock was engraved crudely with the figure of an Indian with abnormally large feet and hands; around the figure was a circle, the death sign of the Plutes.

The dead chief is reputed to have had enormously large feet and hands and it is a tradition that one of his feet was six inches wide and eighteen inches long. The attempt of the carver to show the large hands and feet led Limbert to believe that it is the grave of Chief Nam-puh.

Give Up Horseshoe Making

Manufacturing horseshoes is no longer profitable, the United States Steel corporation finds, automobiles having so thoroughly displaced the horse in America. Announcement has been made that the American Steel and Wire company, one of the larger subsidiaries of the Steel corporation, has sold the machinery, stock and good will of its horseshoe department to the Phoenix Horseshoe company of Chicago. The demand for horseshoes, it was said, had dwindled to such an extent that the company found it could devote the space required by its horseshoe plant to better advantage by manufacturing products more generally in demand.

Origin of Football

However ancient their origins most of our popular games date back only to the athletic revival of the Nineteenth century. As an instance, football. Not till the foundation of the football association in 1863 and the Rugby Football union in 1871 can the two games we know today be said to have taken legal shape. During the Seventeenth century, probably owing to the Puritan movement, football declined in town and country.

Electricity in Homes

Electricity is now used in half the homes of the United States. From figures for January 1, 1925, it is estimated that the total population of the country is 113,809,000 people and the total number of homes 23,290,889. Also on this date there were 13,252,985 homes wired for electric service. Thus 56.4 per cent of the homes of the nation are now able to enjoy the comfort and convenience of electricity.

Tigress Ready to Fight Against Odds for Cubs

According to an authority on big game, a tigress is an excellent mother. He says:

I once saw a tigress with two small cubs, about the size of fox hounds, come out of some heavy bush cover, which was being beaten by three or four elephants. The two cubs trotted on ahead, and in order to cover their retreat, the tigress twice charged the line of elephants, roaring loudly.

The cubs would probably have died if I had shot the mother, so I let her go. I thought she deserved this for her bravery.

There were not many tigers about in this particular neighborhood, but strictly speaking it was probably most improper to spare her life, as game was scarce in that locality and this tigress would therefore have probably educated her cubs in the art of cattle killing. A tigress with growing cubs is far more destructive than a tiger or tigress alone, or as a pair.

The tiger cub at birth is very small—in fact, not much bigger than a large rat. Three or four cubs is the usual number, but as a rule only two of a litter grow up. I have once seen four almost full-grown cubs and the tigress all together. The cubs stay with the mother until they are nearly full grown. I have shot them in company with their mother when the male cubs measured eight feet four inches in length, and the females about seven feet six inches. The average length of a full-grown male tiger is about nine feet six inches and of the female, about one foot less. A tiger over ten feet is an exceptionally large one. Ten feet four inches was the length of the biggest I ever shot, and the largest tigress I ever saw was nine feet two inches.

Ordinarily a tiger will kill only sufficient animals for his own needs, and assuming that his kills are not removed by the natives or devoured by vultures, two kills weekly are quite enough for him. A big male tiger is quite a noble-looking animal.

Skunks and Their Habits

W. Kenneth Cuyler, of the zoology department of the University of Texas, having completely lost his sense of smell, has taken advantage of this unusual condition and hunted and studied skunks for many years. He finds they are easily tamed and make fine mousers. Besides mice, they eat all sorts of things, from roots, berries and insects to birds and eggs, and sometimes rival the possum in their ability to rob the chicken roost. The musk which efficiently defends the skunk from most people is manufactured by two egg-shaped glands with contractile walls which can force out jets in any direction, even directly over the head of the skunk. These jets break up into a fine spray and can reach an object as distant as 20 feet. Mr. Cuyler says skunks are usually loath to waste their musk and therefore do not discharge it promiscuously, but only when cornered and irritated. For removing skunk odor, Mr. Cuyler suggests washing in gasoline or ammonia water, or in water containing a few drops of carbolic acid and oil of wintergreen. A much more effective method, which he regularly uses, is to hold face and hands or clothing for a few minutes in the thick, heavy smoke produced by placing green juniper branches on a good fire.

One of War's Martyrs

Freed from living death, Trooper T. W. Rolfe, known the world over as "The Man in the Bath," has died at Randwick Military hospital, Sydney, Australia. Rolfe was literally flayed alive by German poison gas. His was a case unique in medical history, for he was condemned to pass the rest of his days at Randwick in a bath of tepid water, constantly circulating to keep off surface poisons. "Well, anyway, a bloke can't get much worse," was his smiling comment to the visitors he loved to see. Rolfe became a world figure of sympathy through the publicity his case received, and he had correspondents in Alaska, North China, North and South Africa, Scotland, and various parts of the United States.

Sues an Entire Village

Count Friedrich Szechenyi, a Hungarian aristocrat, is bringing legal action against the entire village of Peterhida in southwestern Hungary. Szechenyi leased a piece of land to the villagers for a rental of one-quarter of a carload of grain a year. The village neglected to pay and the count is bringing suit. He has had the legal forms run off on a duplicating machine and will serve each villager. The case will be heard in Nagyvatad, the nearest county seat, and the entire population of Peterhida will have to appear.

Modern Setting

An Emporia school teacher was attempting to familiarize her pupils with the picture of Mona Lisa, by weaving about it a romantic story.

"Do you see the strange background of the picture, children?" she said. "Now where do you suppose Mona Lisa was sitting to have that strange view at her back?"

Blind Not All Dependent

Out of 600 blind people in New Zealand, only 87 have applied for the pension granted by parliament. The explanation is that they are able to make a good living in various ways.

Toothless Cow

A drover bought a young cow in Stratford, N. H., for a very small price from a man who didn't know as much about a cow's anatomy as he now does. The drover claimed the animal was pretty ancient and declared that her upper jaw proved it, as she had lost all her teeth. The owner, not knowing that cattle never possess upper teeth, reluctantly agreed and sold for a song.

Two Types of Artists

The great artist is forever enlarging the scope of human art and embracing things with love that have never known art before. He can only do that by making them beautiful, and the would-be artist who brings into what he calls his art things that are ugly and remain just as ugly after he has touched them is nothing in the world.—Havelock Ellis.

Organ Tones From Piano

Tones of an organ, oboe or flute may be produced from an ordinary piano by placing tiny electromagnets close to the strings, say two French inventors.

FREE CAMPING TRIP FOR SCOUT

Brainerd Citizen Believing in Boy Scout Principles Makes the Offer

BASED ON GOOD TURNS DONE

Good Turns Must be Submitted to Scout Headquarters in Sealed Envelopes

A free camping trip at the Boy Scout camp, or five dollars in gold is the offer made by a Brainerd citizen who believes that the principles of the Boy Scout program makes for better citizenship, and that the Good Turn idea of the Scout movement is the foundation of all true ideals of boys' lives.

This citizen is offering the above inducement to the Brainerd Boy Scout who submits the largest and best list of Good Turns from April 22nd until May 22nd, one month later, and it is believed that every Scout will wish to try for this fine gift.

The Good Turns must be submitted to Scout headquarters in sealed envelopes at the close of each seven days, beginning with the first envelope that is due on April 29th, and one each week for the four weeks. Each envelope must contain at least seven Good Turns written neatly, but may contain any additional number.

The quality of the good turn will share equally with the number that are submitted, the judges to ascertain the value of each one.

While the donor of this gift refuses to have his name divulged, he wishes to assure the boys that he is a sincere booster in every way for the Boy Scout movement. The names of the judges will be announced later. It is expected that every Scout in the city will make a strong effort, not only to have the largest number of Good Turns, but will see that each one is of real value to the recipient.

Boy scouts of the Crow Wing council are also offered an opportunity to attend the Culver, Indiana, Scout school, which is following a custom of several years standing in offering to certain councils an opportunity to send delegates for a week's free attendance at the summer session of the school.

The only requirement for this honor is that the Scout attending be at least a member of the second class, and have a complete uniform.

The class will have instruction in all the Scout program from some of the best Scout men in the United States, including Daniel Carter Beard, national Scout commissioner, L. L. McDonald, national camp director, and James A. Smoke, instructor in wood craft and Indian lore.

The Scout attending this summer camp will be permitted to qualify for the Culver "C" which is given for meritorious Scout activities, such as fire-making, with and without matches, cooking, tracking, pace and other Scout tests up to those of the first class.

This opportunity is a rare one, since only Scout councils having a No. 1 rating are permitted to send delegates, and the men of Crow Wing county may feel well repaid for the effort put forth in bringing the local council up to the required standards to be among those included in the Culver list.

The schools will be held throughout the summer as follows: July 8 to 15th; July 15th to 22nd; July 22nd to 29th; August 5th to 12th, and August 12th to 19th. Complete information concerning these schools may be obtained at the Scout headquarters in the court house.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Organization of Evangelical Church, N. E. Brainerd, to Meet Thursday Evening

The Women's Missionary society of the Evangelical church of Northeast Brainerd will hold its regular monthly meeting for April on Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage.

This meeting is in connection with the regular prayer meeting. Since the society begins its new study book, "Adventures in Brotherhood" at this meeting it is especially important that every member be present to join in the discussion.

Members are asked to come dressed in a costume representing the nationality of their forefathers, and it is expected that some very novel dresses will be the result.

In addition to the regular business of the meeting there will be election of officers for the coming year, and the submitting of the annual reports. Every member is urged to be present, and visitors are very welcome.

MILWAUKEE LIONS

Will Broadcast Radio Program Over WCAY Tomorrow Evening

The Brainerd Lions club has been informed that the Milwaukee, Wisconsin Lions will broadcast an interesting radio program from WCAY the new 1,000 watt station in that city, on Thursday evening, April 23rd, beginning at 9:15 o'clock. This is to be an interesting and novel program, and all Brainerd people who have receiving sets, are invited and urged to listen in on the fun. The Milwaukee Lions are broadcasting a series of excellent programs, the one on Thursday evening being the second on the list. Others will be announced as they appear.

TATAPOCHON CAMP FIRE GIRLS PLAY

Will Present "Miss Fearless & Co." at Methodist Church Friday Evening, April 24

HAS MOST LAUDABLE PURPOSE

Money Gained to be Applied to Girls' Summer Camp in Vicinity

The Tatapochoon Campfire Girls will present "Miss Fearless & Co." in the basement of the Methodist church on Friday evening, April 24th. This playlet is for the purpose of raising funds for the girls' summer camp, and they hope that it will be well attended. The curtain raises promptly at 8 o'clock.

Following is the cast of characters:

Miss Margaret Henley, an heiress—Miriam Michael.

Miss Euphemia Addison, her chaperon—Margaret Bouma.

Miss Sarah Jane Lovejoy, from the country—Augusta Welsh.

Katie O'Connor, Miss Henley's maid, Irish and excitable—Sylvia Foster.

Miss Barbara Livingston, a guest—Shirley Peterson.

Miss Bettie Cameron, another guest—Dorothy Winters.

Miss Marion Reynolds, a third guest—Delphine Winters.

"Just Lizzie," the ghost—Margaret Ludwig.

Miss Alias—Elizabeth Hanson.

Miss Alibi—Iva Trask.

(Supposed two sisters who have lost their noses and cannot show their faces.)

In addition to the above there is a cat that Miss Sarah Jane warns her feet upon in the winter, and a hen, called "Necessity" that is especially good at laying eggs.

The setting is on Spook island; the time is the present.

Specialties between the acts will be presented by a ladies' quartet, composed of Mrs. Norman Ziebell, Mrs. A. W. Moulster, Mrs. Wm. Niles and Miss Lorraine Morrison.

LAST CONCERT OF MUSICAL CLUB

The last concert of the Brainerd Musical club is scheduled for May 3, when the long delayed Passmore Trio is to appear at the Park theatre.

One of the members is unable to appear, so Mr. Culbertson has been fortunate enough to get Vera Poppe to substitute for her. The presence of Miss Poppe will be an extra inducement to her admirers.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE WORK CONTEST

Next Saturday an all day meeting will be held at the high school for the schools in the county of Crow Wing who are entering the contest in the Domestic Science work—cooking, sewing and health work.

Miss Uglum has charge of the cooking and sewing, and Miss Engbreton is training the team on health work. The program will be given in detail later.

Mothers are especially urged to be out on Friday afternoon when there will be a talk and music for them and the contestants.

Bethlehem Ladies Aid

The ladies aid society of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, on South Seventh street, will meet in the church parlor, on Thursday afternoon, April 23rd, and will be entertained by Mrs. Carl Anderson and Mrs. William O. Olson. Everyone is welcome.

TRAVEL BY TRAIN AND AUTO

Pleasant Custom of Interchange of Lodge Visits Inaugurated by Alpha Members

Members of Alpha Chapter, No. 23, Order of the Eastern Star, will make a pilgrimage to Aitkin this Wednesday evening, at the invitation of that chapter, where they will be entertained, as a return compliment for a very pleasant evening that the Aitkin chapter spent with the Brainerd lodge last spring.

Local members of the order will make the trip by automobile, or by train. Many prefer the latter route, since the service is excellent to the neighboring village. It is possible to leave Brainerd at 6:48 o'clock, spend the evening in Aitkin, and return at midnight. For those who intend to go by car, the roads are reported in very good condition.

Alpha Chapter last year inaugurated a very pleasing custom, intended to bring about a closer friendship between the chapters in this district. Throughout the spring months each of these chapters were entertained by the local lodge, at which events, degree work, dancing and special programs were presented. Aitkin will follow this example by entertaining tonight.

Those who have no means of transportation are requested to be at the Iron Exchange building between 6:30 and 7 o'clock this evening to go with those who have cars, and all who will have space in their automobiles, for extra passengers are requested to stop at the Iron Exchange and assist in transporting those less fortunate. It is planned to arrive in Aitkin for the opening of lodge about 8 o'clock.

PURCHASE LIENS

AGAINST HOTEL

$119,000 SPENT IN BUYING UP FIRST SET OF BREEN CLAIMS

The bonding company guaranteeing the validity of the mortgage held on the Breen hotel property in St. Cloud by the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, sent its representatives to St. Cloud and arranged the purchase of the lien claims against the property amounting to $119,000 including interest.

As the case stands, the title of the hotel property is vested in the surety bonding company subject to a redemption provision which expires on September 6. On that date last year the hotel was sold to satisfy the amounts of the liens at sheriff's sale. One year of grace was allowed for the redemption, as required by law. The lienholders, represented by attorneys Donohue, J. D. Sullivan and Brower bid in the hotel at the price named.

Immediately a default is made on the redemption, the company now holding the hotel will get a deed to the same, subject, however, to three other claims. The first of the other claims is that of the receivers, James I. Quigley and Horace Dickinson, who have operated the property since receivership was declared by leasing it to Mr. Breen. The lease expires at the end of the redemption period.

The receiver lienholders are allowed five days in which to purchase the property, and after that the St. Paul Glass company, also holding a lien, enjoys the same right and lastly, the Wells-Dickey company of Minneapolis, second mortgage of the property, will have the same privilege.

The receivership lien claims aggregate some $150,000, the subsequent lien of the Glass company some $75,000 and the second mortgage a like amount. Just which company will take advantage of its option rights and purchase the rights of the others is not known as yet. Whatever may happen in this regard, however, the hotel will be held, encumbered free, as far as the present liabilities are concerned, within the fifteen days after the redemption period expires, unless the redemption provision is utilized by the present stockholders, which is not likely.

If all the other claimants should default, the title would remain in the company guaranteeing the life insurance company mortgage and that concern would face the other obligations. Any of the various creditors may have title to the property by payment of the other claimants as the firms ahead of them default their privilege.—St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press.

INVITE SPEAKER HERE

Miss Lawrence of St. Cloud to Tell Women Voters of Legislative Program

At the board meeting of the League of Women Voters Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Weber, it was decided to invite Miss Isabelle Lawrence of St. Cloud to come to Brainerd and tell what was decided at the National convention at Richmond regarding the legislative program of the League for the coming year. Miss Lawrence is Minnesota's chairman of Education which makes her a member of National Committee of Education. If Miss Lawrence accepts this invitation her address will constitute the program for the April meeting which will close the year.

There was great rejoicing over the passing of the state re-organization bill in a form that did not destroy centralized financial control.

"BATTLING ORIOLES" TO AID THE Y. TEAM

New Novelty Comedy Motion Picture of Baseball at Lyceum April 28 and 29

"Orioles" Were the Unholy Terrors of Baseball Some Fifty Years Ago

"The Battling Orioles" a new novelty comedy motion picture of baseball, will be presented at the Lyceum theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28th and 29th, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team.

Baseball fans of the present as well as those of a past generation will want to see "The Battling Orioles" who were the unholy terrors of baseball fifty years ago. It would be hard to imagine Babe Ruth or Brainerd's own Joe Bullet Bush in a luxuriant foliage of sideburns and heavy mustache, but the Orioles did their slugging in the heyday of facial adornment, when man's crowning glory was a well trimmed hedge that almost circumnavigated his map, and the younger generation of today will get laughs galore as a result.

Fifty years after the Orioles last game, as the players of yesterday sat around their exclusive club, fossilized specimens of their former selves, they found that one of their number was missing. No one knew what had become of him in the last few years, but he and his son, when they are found, furnish plenty of action during the remainder of the picture.

Of course there is a sparkling romance of irrepressible youth, which runs through the film, and there are thrills, surprise, and laughs galore. It is a picture that every baseball fan, past and present, will want to see once at least, and probably twice, and it is so good that those who contend that they are not as yet baseball enthusiasts, will be converted before half of the picture is seen.

The Brainerd city league, organized last season, was very successful, and provided a series of clean ball games that were much appreciated. This year the league is starting out more promising than last season, and it is expected that there will be a keen rivalry between the teams and a keen interest shown by local fans. The "Y" team needs the proceeds from this picture to finance its uniforms and other expenses.

FIVE ROYAL HUSSAR GIRLS

Special Attraction at Regular Prices Secured by New Park Theatre for Today

The New Park will present the Five Royal Hussar Girls, a headline vaudeville act, tonight with the big picture "Beau Brummel" starring John Barrymore all for regular prices. The Five Royal Hussar Girls are talented musicians who sing and play, using a number of different instrumentations in their act. Their costumes are very neat and pretty, and in all it is a big time act.

This act played St. Cloud recently and was held over two extra days because of the enormous crowds who came to see and hear this organization. Their bookings are so arranged that they can only be here one day in Brainerd, therefore it is suggested that you come early for seats, as undoubtedly the New Park will be filled to capacity at both performances this evening.

Shipping of Iron Ore Starts Early at Duluth

Duluth, Minn., April 22—The iron ore shipping season is well under way with opening of navigation on the Great Lakes. The season is well in advance of last year and indications point to a banner year in both mining and shipping. Crews in the mines have been increased in most cases, with stock piles moving fast, a survey showed.

Then the Advice of This Brainerd Resident Will Interest You
Does your back ache-night and day; hinder work; destroy your rest? Are you tortured with stabbing pains When you stoop, lift or bend? Then likely your kidneys are weak. More troubles may soon appear. Headaches, dizziness, nervousness; Or uric acid and its ills. Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills.

Read this Brainerd testimony:
J. L. Rush, carpenter, 726 4th Ave, says: "I was stiff and sore across the small of my back. I had a steady, dull ache across my kidneys day and night. My kidneys acted frequently and the secretions were highly colored. I used Doan's Pills and they relieved me so I could get back to work again, feeling as well as ever."

FREE CAMPING

TRIP FOR SCOUT

Brainerd Citizen Believing in Boy Scout Principles Makes the Offer

BASED ON GOOD TURNS DONE

Good Turns Must be Submitted to Scout Headquarters in Sealed Envelopes

A free camping trip at the Boy Scout camp, or five dollars in gold is the offer made by a Brainerd citizen who believes that the principles of the Boy Scout program makes for better citizenship, and that the Good Turn idea of the Scout movement is the foundation of all true ideals of boys' lives.

This citizen is offering the above inducement to the Brainerd Boy Scout who submits the largest and best list of Good Turns from April 22nd until May 22nd, one month later, and it is believed that every Scout will wish to try for this fine gift.

The Good Turns must be submitted to Scout headquarters in sealed envelopes at the close of each seven days, beginning with the first envelope that is due on April 29th, and one each week for the four weeks. Each envelope must contain at least seven "Good Turns" written neatly, but may contain any additional number.

The quality of the good turn will share equally with the number that are submitted, the judges to ascertain the value of each one.

While the donor of this gift refuses to have his name divulged, he wishes to assure the boys that he is a sincere booster in every way for the Boy Scout movement. The names of the judges will be announced later. It is expected that every Scout in the city will make a strong effort, not only to have the largest number of Good Turns, but will see that each one is of real value to the recipient.

Boy scouts of the Crow Wing council are also offered an opportunity to attend the Culver, Indiana, Scout school, which is following a custom of several years standing in offering to certain councils an opportunity to send delegates for a week's free attendance at the summer session of the school.

The only requirement for this honor is that the Scout attending be at least a member of the second class, and have a complete uniform.

The class will have instruction in all the Scout program from some of the best Scout men in the United States, including Daniel Carter Beard, national Scout commissioner, L. L. McDonald, national camp director, and James A. Smokey, instructor in wood craft and Indian lore.

The Scout attending this summer camp will be permitted to qualify for the Culver "C" which is given for meritorious Scout activities, such as fire-making, with and without matches, cooking, tracking, pace and other Scout tests up to those of the first class.

This opportunity is a rare one, since only Scout councils having a No. 1 rating are permitted to send delegates, and the men of Crow Wing county may feel well repaid for the effort put forth in bringing the local council up to the required standards to be among those included in the Culver list.

The schools will be held throughout the summer as follows: July 8 to 15th; July 15th to 22nd; July 22nd to 29th; August 5th to 12th, and August 12th to 19th. Complete information concerning these schools may be obtained at the Scout headquarters in the court house.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Organization of Evangelical Church. N. E. Brainerd, to Meet Thursday Evening

The Women's Missionary society of the Evangelical church of Northeast Brainerd will hold its regular monthly meeting for April on Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage.

This meeting is in connection with the regular prayer meeting. Since the society begins its new study book, "Adventures in Brotherhood" at this meeting it is especially important that every member be present to join in the discussion.

Members are asked to come dressed in a costume representing the nationality of their fore-fathers, and it is expected that some very novel dresses will be the result.

In addition to the regular business of the meeting there will be election of officers for the coming year, and the submitting of the annual reports. Every member is urged to be present, and visitors are very welcome.

MILWAUKEE LIONS

Will Broadcast Radio Program Over WCAY Tomorrow Evening

The Brainerd Lions club has been informed that the Milwaukee, Wisconsin Lions will broadcast an interesting radio program from WCAY the new 1,000 watt station in that city, on Thursday evening, April 23rd, beginning at 9:15 o'clock. This is to be an interesting and novel program, and all Brainerd people who have receiving sets, are invited and urged to listen in on the fun. The Milwaukee Lions are broadcasting a series of excellent programs, the one on Thursday evening being the second on the list. Others will be announced as they appear.

The Tatapochoon Campfire Girls will present "Miss Fearless & Co." in the basement of the Methodist church on Friday evening, April 24th. This playlet is for the purpose of raising funds for the girls' summer camp, and they hope that it will be well attended. The curtain raises promptly at 8 o'clock.

Following is the cast of characters:

Miss Margaret Henley, an heiress—Miriam Michael.

Miss Euphemia Addison, her chaperon—Margaret Bouma.

Miss Sarah Jane Lovejoy, from the country—Augusta Welsh.

Katie O'Connor, Miss Henley's maid, Irish and excitable—Sylvia Foster.

Miss Barbara Livingston, a guest—Shirley Peterson.

Miss Bettie Cameron, another guest—Dorothy Winters.

Miss Marion Reynolds, a third guest—Delphine Winters.

"Just Lizzie," the ghost—Margaret Ludwig.

Miss Alias—Elizabeth Hanson.

Miss Alibi—Iva Trask.

(Supposed two sisters who have lost their noses and cannot show their faces.)

In addition to the above there is a cat that Miss Sarah Jane warms her feet upon in the winter, and a hen, called "Necessity" that is especially good at laying eggs.

TRAVEL BY TRAIN AND AUTO

Pleasant Custom of Interchange of Lodge Visits Inaugurated by Alpha Members

Members of Alpha Chapter, No. 23, Order of the Eastern Star, will make a pilgrimage to Aitkin this Wednesday evening, at the invitation of that chapter, where they will be entertained, as a return compliment for a very pleasant evening that the Aitkin chapter spent with the Brainerd lodge last spring.

Local members of the order will make the trip by automobile, or by train. Many prefer the latter route, since the service is excellent to the neighboring village. It is possible to leave Brainerd at 6:48 o'clock, spend the evening in Aitkin, and return at midnight. For those who intend to go by car, the roads are reported in very good condition.

Alpha Chapter last year inaugurated a very pleasing custom, intended to bring about a closer friendship between the chapters in this district. Throughout the spring months each of these chapters were entertained by the local lodge, at which events, degree work, dancing and special programs were presented. Aitkin will follow this example by entertaining tonight.

Those who have no means of transportation are requested to be at the Iron Exchange building between 6:30 and 7 o'clock this evening to go with those who have cars, and all who will have space in their automobiles, for extra passengers are requested to stop at the Iron Exchange and assist in transporting those less fortunate. It is planned to arrive in Aitkin for the opening of lodge about 8 o'clock.

PURCHASE LIENS

AGAINST HOTEL

$119,000 SPENT IN BUYING UP FIRST SET OF BREEN CLAIMS

The bonding company guaranteeing the validity of the mortgage held on the Breen hotel property in St. Cloud by the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, sent its representatives to St. Cloud and arranged the purchase of the lien claims against the property amounting to $119,000 including interest.

As the case stands, the title of the hotel property is vested in the surety bonding company subject to a redemption provision which expires on September 6. On that date last year the hotel was sold to satisfy the amounts of the liens at sheriff's sale. One year of grace was allowed for the redemption, as required by law. The lienholders, represented by attorneys Donohue, J. D. Sullivan and Brower bid in the hotel at the price named.

Immediately a default is made on the redemption, the company now holding the hotel will get a deed to the same, subject, however, to three other claims. The first of the other claims is that of the receivers, James I. Quigley and Horace Dickinson who have operated the property since receivership was declared by leasing it to Mr. Breen. The lease expires at the end of the redemption period. The receiver lienholders are allowed five days in which to purchase the property, and after that the St. Paul Glass company, also holding a lien, enjoys the same right and lastly, the Wells-Dickey company of Minneapolis, second mortgagers of the property, will have the same privilege.

The receivership lien claims aggregate some $150,000, the subsequent lien of the Glass company some $75,000 and the second mortgage a like amount. Just which company will take advantage of its option rights and purchase the rights of the others is not known as yet. Whatever may happen in this regard, however, the hotel will be held, encumbrance free, as far as the present liabilities are concerned, within the fifteen days after the redemption period expires, unless the redemption provision is utilized by the present stockholders, which is not likely.

If all the other claimants should default, the title would remain in the company guaranteeing the life insurance company mortgage and that concern would face the other obligations. Any of the various creditors may have title to the property by payment of the other claimants as the firms ahead of them default their privilege.—St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press.

INVITE SPEAKER HERE

Miss Lawrence of St. Cloud to Tell Women Voters of Legislative Program

At the board meeting of the League of Women Voters Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Weber, it was decided to invite Miss Isabelle Lawrence of St. Cloud to come to Brainerd and tell what was decided at the National convention at Richmond regarding the legislative program of the League for the coming year. Miss Lawrence is Minnesota chairman of Education which makes her a member of National Committee of Education. If Miss Lawrence accepts this invitation her address will constitute the program for the April meeting which will close the year.

There was great rejoicing over the passing of the state re-organization bill in a form that did not destroy centralized financial control.

"BATTLING ORIOLES"

TO AID THE Y. TEAM

"The Battling Orioles" a new novelty comedy motion picture of baseball, will be presented at the Lyceum theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28th and 29th, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team.

Baseball fans of the present as well as those of a past generation will want to see "The Battling Orioles" who were the unholy terrors of baseball fifty years ago. It would be hard to imagine Babe Ruth or Brainerd's own Joe Bullet Bush in a luxurious foliage of sideburns and heavy mustache, but the Orioles did their slugging in the heyday of facial adornment, when man's crowning glory was a well trimmed hedge that almost circumnavigated his map, and the younger generation of today will get laughs galore as a result.

Fifty years after the Orioles last game, as the players of yesterday sat around their exclusive club, fossilized specimens of their former selves, they found that one of their number was missing. No one knew what had become of him in the last few years, but he and his son, when they are found, furnish plenty of action during the remainder of the picture.

Of course there is a sparkling romance of irrepressible youth, which runs through the film, and there are thrills, surprise, and laughs galore. It is a picture that every baseball fan, past and present, will want to see once at least, and probably twice, and it is so good that those who contend that they are not as yet baseball enthusiasts, will be converted before half of the picture is seen.

The Brainerd city league, organized last season, was very successful, and provided a series of clean ball games that were much appreciated. This year the league is starting out more promising than last season, and it is expected that there will be a keen rivalry between the teams and a keen interest shown by local fans. The "Y" team needs the proceeds from this picture to finance its uniforms and other expenses.

FIVE ROYAL HUSSAR GIRLS

The New Park will present the Five Royal Hussar Girls, a headline vaudeville act, tonight with the big picture "Beau Brummel" starring John Barrymore all for regular prices. The Five Royal Hussar Girls are talented musicians who sing and play, using a number of different instruments in their act. Their costumes are very neat and pretty, and in all it is a big time act.

This act played St. Cloud recently and was held over two extra days because of the enormous crowds who came to see and hear this organization. Their bookings are so arranged that they can only be here one day in Brainerd, therefore it is suggested that you come early for seats, as undoubtedly the New Park will be filled to capacity at both performances this evening.

Shipping of Iron Ore Starts Early at Duluth

Duluth, Minn., April 22—The iron ore shipping season is well under way with opening of navigation on the Great Lakes. The season is well in advance of last year and indications point to a banner year in both mining and shipping. Crews in the mines have been increased in most cases, with stock piles moving fast, a survey showed.

RUTH'S ILLNESS SHOWS HIM PUBLIC IDOL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 22.—It took a Babe Ruth on the point of death to show what a remarkable hold the big fellow has on the affection and regard of the public. It took a rumor that he was dead, ticked across the cables, to demonstrate that Babe is not Our Babe, but nearly everyone's.

To any one knowing the policy of London newspapers, it was astonishing that columns of space should have been devoted on the front page to memorialize the hero of a game about which so little is known in England. In their extremity, London editors called upon American correspondents to write for their readers all that they knew about the Babe, "the highest paid professional athlete in the world."

The significance of this extraordinary manifestation of interest in London can be appreciated by Americans only when they stop to think how slightly they would be interested in reading about the demise of the world's greatest cricket player. It would have to be a dull day in an American newspaper shop before an editor could find space for a bare mention of it.

There has been no doubt that Babe Ruth holds a place in the heart of the United States that no athlete has ever held. Perhaps there have been among statesmen, like the beloved Roosevelt, a national character, who was more popular than the Babe, but after that recent demonstration, when the rumor spread all over the country that the Babe had gone, it is hard to believe that the public could possibly be more wrapped up in an individual.

The Babe is not perfect in his private life, but his faults make him all the more beloved. His transgressions are all boyish and it is the nature of the overgrown boy in him and the all-absorbing love that he has for kids that have made him a national idol.

To the Babe fell that unusual privilege of reading his own obituary. Kind sentiments are many times left for expression until the eyes of the subject cannot see and until his ears cannot hear. But the Babe had the fortune to see in print the mourning words of a grieving sport nation and to hear the tributes of the public.

IOWA TRACKSTERS WILL HAVE STRONG ARRAY AT DRAKE

Iowa City, Ia., April 22.—The Iowa track team will invade Des Moines for the Drake relays with full strength this week-end. Injuries have handicapped the Hawkeye aggregation this season, the team losing Capt. Coulter and Berne for the Kansas relays.

Ray Dauber, who won the shotput at the Ohio relays Saturday, was handicapped by an injury to his hand, but he will be in good condition for the Des Moines classic.

Coach Bresnahan hopes to develop a strong mile relay combination for the Drake meet Saturday, and will choose the Hawkeye quartet from Coulter, Everingham, Roberts, Jones, Kohl and L. Phelps.

Frank Cuhel, Iowa freshman track captain, proved his ability as a logical successor to Charley Brookings by wrestling second place in the special 220-yard high hurdle event at the Kansas relays from Ivan Riley of Illinois A. C., senior A. A. U. high hurdles champion and American Olympic man.

Cuhel, who holds the national interscholastic records in the 120-yard and 230-yard high hurdles, gave Brookings a great race at the Kansas meet Saturday and beat Riley to the tape in a final burst of speed.

Holland Prepares For 1928 Olympic Games

Amsterdam, April 22.—Preparations for the 1928 Olympic games which are to be held here, are now in full swing. The plans for the new stadium have been accepted and the committee is progressing favorably with plans to finance the games.

Holland hopes to outdo all predecessors in the promotion of the games and in the entertainment of the visiting athletes and spectators.

Hurls No-Hit Game

Baldwin, Kan., April 22.—Ray Nichols, Baker university hurler, let down the St. Benedict nine without a hit or run here yesterday. Two men reached first base on passes.

Joe Stecher Wins

New York, April 22.—With a body scissors, Joe Stecher, Nebraska wrestler, threw Renato Gardini, Italian heavyweight, in 58.05.

RUTH HAPPY AS COLD KEEPS HIS TEAMMATES IDLE

New York, April 22.—Babe Ruth, like his teammates, was idle Monday. Cold kept the Yankees inactive at the stadium, and a cold, supplemented by various other ailments, kept the master mauler in his bed at St. Vincent's hospital, where he has been confined since his arrival from the southern training trip. However, in spite of his idleness, the Babe made progress, for it was said that he showed improvement and had spent a comfortable day, with his temperature abating to almost normal, although his restlessness increased almost in proportion.

The Babe might be called one of the meanest men in the world, for he was rejoiced at the enforced inactivity of his teammates. If Babe can't play ball, he doesn't want anyone else to play.

Trial to Determine If Pickrel and Pike Belong to Same Family

Carington, N. D., April 22.—The question of whether a pickrel is a species of the pike family, and consequently protected by the game and fish laws of North Dakota, will be brought to the fore at a preliminary examination on charges preferred against E. K. Sheaffer, county auditor. A date for hearing has not been set. The defense will attempt to prove that a pickrel is not protected by law, while the prosecution will urge that the pickrel is a species of the pike and has the same protection of closed season as pike.

Valley Loop Clubs Starts Spring Training Today

Dubuque, Ia., April 22.—The eight Mississippi Valley clubs will formally start their spring training today. All of the teams will train on their home lots, excepting Cedar Rapids, which will drill at Peoria, Ill. Between 25 and 35 players have been signed by each of the clubs. The season opens May 6.

Baseball Loop Formed

Virginia, April 22.—Eveleth, Virginia, Duluth, International Falls, Hibbing, Chisholm and Superior are entered in the Arrowhead baseball league. The teams will play Sundays and holidays. The season will open May 24.

NEW YORK GIANTS GAIN LEAD IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

STANDINGS OF MEMBER CLUBS IN A FAMILIAR POSE

CLEVELAND A SENSATION OF AMERICAN LEAGUE STRUGGLE

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, April 22.—Standing of the clubs in the National league yesterday assumed a very familiar pose. Through no particular energy of their own, the New York Giants were forced to take the lead. The Pirates obliged by dropping the Cincinnati Reds and the Giants succeeded to first place without playing a game.

Like that veteran turfman who used to tell his jockeys "Get out in front and stay there," John McGraw, the driver of the four-time champions, may tell his players, "You're there now, stay there!"

Unless the dope goes wrong the Giants will be in there or around there for the rest of the season. One week of actual competition isn't enough to prove anything but there is little about the National league champions that needs proof.

Everyone admits that success does not cultivate inspiration and ambition and that too much of it slows up a ball team but not a McGraw ball team. The Giants loomed in the first game of the season and played like they couldn't forget they had won four pennants and they lost the ball game. They haven't played that way since. McGraw laid them out for an hour in the clubhouse after the game and McGraw is a first class little layer-out when he gets started.

Giants Will Hustle
You can bet your last cent that the Giants will hustle all season. They won't fiddle around like the Yankees are doing in the American league and they have more reason than their American rivals to take it easy. Although the team has been crippled on the defense by injuries and illness, it has been moving along with some good pitching from unexpected sources. Jack Scott and Wayland Dean have done some fine work and Hugh McQuillan pitched a good game his last start. Nehf is most always dependable.

Reds Are Not Through
While the Reds have lost first place in the National league it does not mean that the club has exploded. There is too much pitching class on the club to go on the rocks so early in the pennant race. The rally of the Pittsburgh club may mean that the Pirates have shaken off the terrible slump that has made a tail-end out of a club that was picked one or two by nearly every critic in the country. Bill McKechnie has not been getting the pitching he expected but Meadows showed that at least one member of the staff is coming around.

The Cleveland Indians continue to be the surprise of the major leagues. Speaker seems to have found a new combination that cannot lose. The team is hitting and getting fine pitching and the Indians surely will be up there as long as it lasts.

NURMI, PLANT LEAVE FOR COAST RACES

University of Oklahoma's memorial stadium is to cost $1,000,000 and include a double-decked steel grandstand to seat 43,000. A new gymnasium also is being considered.

Jimmy Welsh, the young outfielder, sold recently by Seattle to the Boston Braves, for a reputed sum of $35,000, is trying to force the Seattle club to give him a part of the purchase money.

New Haven has signed Gene Suggs, an infielder, who was with Beatrice of the Tri-State league until the loop blew up last year. Suggs is twenty-one years old, weighs 150 pounds and bats left-handed.

Chattanooga has obtained Tom Rogers, veteran Memphis pitcher, on waivers. Rogers, who has been in the southern league many years, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Chattanooga in 1918. He was then with Nashville.

Outfielder Walter Obere of Springfield of the Eastern league, believes he is better than a Class A player and declares he will retire from organized baseball if a deal is not made whereby he will be given a chance to make good higher up.

RUTH'S ILLNESS SHOWS HIM PUBLIC IDOL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 22.—It took a Babe Ruth on the point of death to show what a remarkable hold the big fellow has on the affection and regard of the public. It took a rumor that he was dead, ticked across the cables, to demonstrate that Babe is not Our Babe, but nearly everyone's.

To any one knowing the policy of London newspapers, it was astonishing that columns of space should have been devoted on the front page to memorialize the hero of a game about which so little is known in England. In their extremity, London editors called upon American correspondents to write for their readers all that they knew about the Babe, "the highest paid professional athlete in the world."

The significance of this extraordinary manifestation of interest in London can be appreciated by Americans only when they stop to think how slightly they would be interested in reading about the demise of the world's greatest cricket player. It would have to be a dull day in an American newspaper shop before an editor could find space for a bare mention of it.

There has been no doubt that Babe Ruth holds a place in the heart of the United States that no athlete has ever held. Perhaps there have been among statesmen, like the beloved Roosevelt, a national character, who was more popular than the Babe, but after that recent demonstration, when the rumor spread all over the country that the Babe had gone, it is hard to believe that the public could possibly be more wrapped up in an individual.

The Babe is not perfect in his private life, but his faults make him all the more beloved. His transgressions are all boyish and it is the nature of the overgrown boy in him and the all-absorbing love that he has for kids that have made him a national idol.

To the Babe fell that unusual privilege of reading his own obituary. Kind sentiments are many times left for expression until the eyes of the subject cannot see and until his ears cannot hear. But the Babe had the fortune to see in print the mourning words of a grieving sport nation and to hear the tributes of the public.

IOWA TRACKSTERS WILL HAVE STRONG ARRAY AT DRAKE

Iowa City, Ia., April 22.—The Iowa track team will invade Des Moines for the Drake relays with its full strength this week-end. Injuries have handicapped the Hawkeye aggregation this season, the team losing Capt. Coulter and Berne for the Kansas relays.

Ray Dauber, who won the shotput at the Ohio relays Saturday, was handicapped by an injury to his hand, but he will be in good condition for the Des Moines classic.

Coach Bresnahan hopes to develop a strong mile relay combination for the Drake meet Saturday, and will choose the Hawkeye quartet from Coulter, Everingham, Roberts, Jones, Kohl and L. Phelps.

Frank Cuהל, Iowa freshman track captain, proved his ability as a logi- cal successor to Charley Brookings by wrestling second place in the special 220-yard low hurdle event at the Kansas relays from Ivan Riley of Illinois A. C., senior A. A. U. high hurdles champion and American Olympic man.

Cuהל, who holds the national interscholastic records in the 120-yard and 230-yard low hurdles, gave Brookings a great race at the Kansas meet Saturday and beat Riley to the tape in a final burst of speed.

Holland Prepares For 1928 Olympic Games

Amsterdam, April 22.—Preparations for the 1928 Olympic games which are to be held here, are now in full swing. The plans for the new stadium have been accepted and the committee is progressing favorably with plans to finance the games.

Holland hopes to outdo all predecessors in the promotion of the games and in the entertainment of the visiting athletes and spectators.

Hurls No-Hit Game

Baldwin, Kan., April 22.—Ray Nicholas, Baker university hurler, let down the St. Benedict nine without a hit or run here yesterday. Two men reached first base on passes.

Joe Stecher Wins

New York, April 22.—With a body scissors, Joe Stecher, Nebraska wrestler, threw Renato Gardini, Italian heavyweight, in 58.05.

RUTH HAPPY AS COLD KEEPS HIS TEAMMATES IDLE

New York, April 22.—Babe Ruth, like his teammates, was idle Monday. Cold kept the Yankees inactive at the stadium, and a cold, supplemented by various other ailments, kept the master mauler in his bed at St. Vincent's hospital, where he has been confined since his arrival from the southern training trip. However, in spite of his idleness, the Babe made progress, for it was said that he showed improvement and had spent a comfortable day, with his temperature abating to almost normal, although his restlessness increased almost in proportion.

The Babe might be called one of the meanest men in the world, for he was rejoiced at the enforced inactivity of his teammates. If Babe can't play ball, he doesn't want anyone else to play.

Trial to Determine If Pickrel and Pike Belong to Same Family

Carrington, N. D., April 22.—The question of whether a pickrel is a species of the pike family, and consequently protected by the game and fish laws of North Dakota, will be brought to the fore at a preliminary examination on charges preferred against E. K. Sheaffer, county auditor. A date for hearing has not been set. The defense will attempt to prove that a pickrel is not protected by law, while the prosecution will urge that the pickrel is a species of the pike and has the same protection of closed season as pike.

Valley Loop Clubs Starts Spring Training Today

Dubuque, Ia., April 22.—The eight Mississippi Valley clubs will formally start their spring training today. All of the teams will train on their home lots, excepting Cedar Rapids, which will drill at Peoria, Ill. Between 25 and 35 players have been signed by each of the clubs. The season opens May 6.

Baseball Loop Formed

Virginia, April 22.—Eveleth, Virginia, Duluth, International Falls, Hibbing, Chisholm and Superior are entered in the Arrowhead baseball league. The teams will play Sundays and holidays. The season will open May 24.

NEW YORK GIANTS

GAIN LEAD IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

CLEVELAND A SENSATION OF AMERICAN LEAGUE STRUGGLE

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, April 22.—Standing of the clubs in the National league yesterday assumed a very familiar pose. Through no particular energy of their own, the New York Giants were forced to take the lead. The Pirates obliged by dropping the Cincinnati Reds and the Giants succeeded to first place without playing a game.

Like that veteran turfman who used to tell his jockeys "Get out in front and stay there," John McGraw, the driver of the four-time champions, may tell his players, "You're there now, stay there!"

Will Stay There Unless the dope goes wrong the Giants will be in there or around there for the rest of the season. One week of actual competition isn't enough to prove anything but there is little about the National league champions that needs proof.

Everyone admits that success does not cultivate inspiration and ambition and that too much of it slows up a ball team but not a McGraw ball team. The Giants loomed in the first game of the season and played like they couldn't forget they had won four pennants and they lost the ball game. They haven't played that way since. McGraw laid them out for an hour in the clubhouse after the game and McGraw is a first class little layer-out when he gets started.

Giants Will Hustle You can bet your last cent that the Giants will hustle all season. They won't fiddle around like the Yankees are doing in the American league and they have more reason than their American rivals to take it easy. Although the team has been crippled on the defense by injuries and illness, it has been moving along with some good pitching from unexpected sources. Jack Scott and Wayland Dean have done some fine work and Hugh McQuillan pitched a good game his last start. Nehf is most always dependable.

Reds Are Not Through While the Reds have lost first place in the National league it does not mean that the club has exploded. There is too much pitching class on the club to go on the rocks so early in the pennant race. The rally of the Pittsburgh club may mean that the Pirates have shaken off the terrible slump that has made a tail-end out of a club that was picked one or two by nearly every critic in the country. Bill McKechnie has not been getting the pitching he expected but Meadows showed that at least one member of the staff is coming around.

The Cleveland Indians continue to be the surprise of the major leagues. Speaker seems to have found a new combination that cannot lose. The team is hitting and getting fine pitching and the Indians surely will be up there as long as it lasts.

NURMI, PLANT LEAVE FOR COAST RACES

Chicago, April 22.—Paavo Nurmi, Finnish runner, and Willie Plant, champion walker, left here for Los Angeles. Willie Ritola left last night for San Francisco. The three are to participate in the Pacific Athletic association meet on May 2-3.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.
